REPORTS FROM EASTERN POINTS INDICATE THAT BALKAN STATES ARE READY TO COMBINE ARMIES.

NO HOPE FOR PEACE

Turkey Rushing Forward to Scene of Conflicts That Are Reported Along the Frontier This Morning.

London, Eng., Oct. 9.—Intervention of the European ambassadors at the Porte in the Balkan situation cannot now have any effect it generally is conceded here and widespread warfare in the near east seems inevitable. A dispatch from Constantinople states that a Montenegrin detachment which crossed the frontier has been annihilated and that 4,000 Albanians Europe as a whole. The Figaro regards the visit of Sergius Sazimoff, Russian foreign minister to Berlin as of vast importance for it is directed to the allaying of any suspicion existing between Russia and Austria.

The mutual confidence of these nations existed on paper says the Figaro but this is not enough and it continues. "A false step, a suspicion, and all Europe would be in flames."

As a result of Sazimoff's visit it is believed Russia will endeavor to bring influence on Serbia not to anger Austria by the invasion of Novipazar. The French government has learned through official advice that before the Russian and Austria ministers made their representations to the Montenegrin government at Cetinje, the Serbian and Grecian ministers had visited the foreign office there and insisted that the declaration of war should be at least adjourned.

Their efforts were however, were futile and it is generally believed in diplomatic circles that Montenegro acted at the instigation of Bulgaria.

troops have invaded Montenegro. Sazimoff also is reported to have occurred on the Serbian and Bulgarian frontiers and one dispatch says that strong force of Bulgarian troops has started for Mustapha, Pasha with a view of forcing the road to Adrianople where the Turks are concentrated in great strength.

It is believed everywhere that if Serbia and Bulgaria have not already declared war on Turkey, as reported from Paris, they are on the point of joining their mobilized armies to that of Montenegro whose troops are believed to be quite generally engaging the Turks along the frontier.

Should the two Balkan nations decide to appeal to arms, about half a million soldiers of the Balkan states who have been concentrating for the past week will be ready to oppose the Turkish army.

FURTHER TESTIMONY ON CONTRIBUTIONS TOLD TO COMMITTEE

Roosevelt Campaign of 1904 is Still Under Discussion in Washington.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Oct. 9.—More testimony about the so-called Harriman funds of 1904 and the alleged $100,000 Standard Oil contribution was developed today before the Clapp committee. Former Senator Nathan B. Scott of West Virginia testified that the late Cornelius N. Bliss had told him of collecting $100,000 from the Standard Oil and that when he suggested that Bliss ask the company for more, Bliss told him President Roosevelt had forbidden contributions from that source. Scott related a conversation he had on the telephone with "the White House" about the New York campaign of 1904 in which "the voice at the White House" told him "that Mr. Harriman was coming."

Judge Robert S. Lovett, chairman of the executive committee of the Harriman railroad testified that the late W. H. Harriman had told him of a visit to the White House and that President Roosevelt wanted him to help the national committee raise $200,000 for the New York state committee.

Charles P. Taft, the president's brother, today told the Clapp committee he contributed $250,000 to the national campaign in 1908 and that $150,000 was returned. He also contributed $40,000 to the Ohio campaign. "I thought my brother was fitted for the presidency," said Mr. Taft, "and I elected I wanted him to walk into the White House without obligation to any great interests or corporations. On that basis I was prepared to go the limit."

Mr. Taft testified that his contributions to the president's campaign for re-election totaled $213,592 of which $125,000 was given to the national Taft bureau of which Representative William B. McKinley was director, the Ohio state campaign, $64,800 was given and $23,000 went for miscellaneous items.

Dan R. Hanna, of Cleveland testified to the Clapp committee today that he gave $177,000 to Col. Roosevelt's pre-convention campaign this year. To the Roosevelt national committee he gave $50,000; to Walter F. Brown of the Ohio campaign $50,000, and for state organizations in Ohio, $77,000.

TWELVE INNINGS TIE BOSTON GAME TODAY IN THE BIG STRUGGLE

Lively Times On the Ball Field at Boston—New York Made Rally in the Eighth Inning Tying the Score.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Boston, Mass., Oct. 9.—The weather for the second game of the world's series at Fenway Park was fair today with few clouds hovering about. The air was crisp and cool. The world's series scenes shifted today to Fenway for the second game between the New York Giants and the Boston Red Sox staged before the biggest crowd that has ever seen a baseball game in this city.

The Boston Red Sox went into the game with a distinct advantage over their New York opponents gained in their victory of yesterday in the first game of the series played in New York yesterday.

Disadvantage came not only from the lead of one game but also from the great moral support resulting from the hard fought victory in the initial test. Weather conditions were almost as good as those which prevailed yesterday.

From their position under the shelter benches at Fenway Park, where they had waited all night more than 400 baseball enthusiasts saw the sun rise over the Back Bay, to obtain the single admission each, which was all that would be allowed on a $1.00 ticket. The sight on the ticket line was one of interest. It was too cold to sleep and those in line would not get out of line because they were afraid to lose their place. Bonfires were lighted and a few gathered about them and dozes.

One of the men lost his false teeth and was seen looking for them at daylight. Another slept on his crutch and broke it and was forced to hobble about on a single staff this morning.

The train on which the players came from New York did not arrive in Boston until after nine being detained two hours by a wreck. All breakfasted late and did not try to reach Fenway Park until much before noon.

All players reported to Manager McGraw and Manager Stahl as being in good shape. Waggoner was a happy captain. "We got the jump on the yesterday and we can do it again."

"The boys can't hit anything McGraw can send along. Watch today." Joe Wood was in high spirits after his successful work of yesterday. "I am glad we won," he said, and added that he was ready to go into it again, just as soon as wanted.

"The Boston fans are anxious to see 'Smookey Joe' in action in the world series games and are likely to have their desires filled on Friday when the team comes to Fenway Park for the fourth game of the series. The probable batting order is as follows:

Hooper, r. f.; Yerkes, second base; Snodgrass, c. f.; Louis, l. f.; Gardner, first base; Stahl, first base; Waggoner, short stop; Carrigan, catcher; Collins, pitcher.

New York. Snodgrass, c. f.; Doyle, second base; Becker, r. f.; Murray, l. f.; Merkle, first base; Herzog, third base; Myers, catcher and Fletcher, short stop; Mathewson, pitcher. Umpires, Klem, Evans, Ridgler and O'Laughlin. Spectators plied their traffic in reserved seats at prices almost prohibitive during the forenoon hours, $40 and $50 a pair was asked for the three games.

Boston turned out its baseball legions over 30,000 strong today to witness the second game of the world's series. The weather was fair and the edge of a sharp westerly breeze was somewhat dulled by the sun.

While New York failed to score in the first inning Boston opened the series with three runs, three hits and one error. In the second inning New York crossed the plate for one run, making two hits and no errors. Boston was satisfied with a goose egg, making one hit and no errors. In the third neither team scored.

New York, in the fourth inning, secured one run and two hits, while Boston took three goose eggs. In the fifth New York failed to score while Boston had one run and two hits to its tally sheet. Neither side scored in the sixth, while New York made one hit and Boston was credited with one error.

Neither side scored in the seventh.

Meetings will continue for three days.

GREAT ELECTRIC SHOW BEGINS IN NEW YORK

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] New York, Oct. 9.—The myriad wonders of electricity were never better illustrated than in the countless exhibits at the Electrical Show, which opened today in Grand Central Palace. Foremost among the exhibits is that of the Federal government. This includes a miniature reproduction of the Gatun section of the Panama canal, showing how the great locks will be operated by electricity when completed. Another Government exhibit is the pulmotor, an electrical device adopted by the Bureau of Mines for resuscitating miners overcome by suffocation.

Selling Second Hand Furniture and Furnishings at this season of the year is simply a matter of letting the people know you have the things for sale. Just now there is an enormous demand for anything of this kind. All discarded furniture that usually goes to the attic can be easily sold at a good price; carpets, rugs, stoves, etc., all are equally salable now.

A moment's time each day in watching the want-ad page of this paper will not only convince you of the truth of the above but will give you a host of new ideas of what to do with the odds and ends you have been throwing away.

New York making one hit, Boston failing to find the pill. In the eighth the Giants made one of their old time rallies and brought in three runs while the best the Red Sox could do was to cross the home plate once. Neither scored in the ninth making it a tie and the extra inning began with the crowd at the fever point of excitement.

In the tenth inning both teams made one run, tying the score again. In the first half of the eleventh New York failed to score.

In the second half Boston failed to score. In the 12th inning both teams scored one run and game was called. R. H. E.

SOX AND CUBS ARE FIGHTING IT OUT

Chicago, Oct. 9.—Close to 30,000 baseball fans jammed Comiskey Park today to witness the opening game of the series between the Chicago clubs of the American and National leagues to decide the baseball championship of Chicago. For a time early in the day rain threatened to cause another postponement of the game, but a warm sun dried the field, making play possible. Manager Callahan of the White Sox planned to send Pitcher Walsh into the game to oppose Lavender.

Neither side scored in the first three innings. Neither team scored in fourth, fifth or sixth innings.

NOT TRYING TO PUT ROOSEVELT IN HOLE

Governor Wilson Says He Merely Tries to Show That Colonel Has the Trust Viewpoint.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Springfield, Oct. 9.—"I'm not trying to put Mr. Roosevelt in a hole," said Governor Woodrow Wilson today, in referring to his recent declaration that the United States Steel Corporation was "behind the third party program in thought." I am simply trying to show that Mr. Roosevelt has the viewpoint of the trust and that we cannot afford to have a man president of the United States who has that viewpoint. It is a matter of perfect indifference to me where Roosevelt gets his money, but it is a matter of a great deal of difference to me where he gets his ideas, and he got his ideas with regard to the regulation of monopoly from the gentlemen who control the United States Steel Corporation."

Marches in Springfield. Governor Wilson marched in the streets of Springfield with the reception committee. It was the first time he traveled afoot to a meeting that he was to address. The reception committee, they told the governor, was "democratic simplicity."

The democrats of every variety accompanied the presidential nominee. Governor Wilson spoke from the steps of the old state house, now a court house, where Lincoln and Douglas engaged in one of their famous debates. In the crowd was Leonard J. Scroggin of Mt. Pleasant, Ill., 94 years old, who heard the Lincoln-Douglas debate.

Onto Roosevelt's Curves. "I feel as if I owe the people of the United States an apology," said Gov. Wilson in his speech, "for conducting a campaign in the same week when the world's series in baseball is going on. But while I am interested in the score from day to day, I am more interested in what the score will be in November. The democrats are getting onto Mr. Roosevelt's curves and are knocking out home runs every time they go to bat." The crowd laughed and cheered.

REDISTRICTING PROPOSAL CAUSES UPROAR TODAY

DYNAMITING CASE IS CONTINUED TODAY BY OUTLINING DEFENSE

Idea Given As To What Line The Prisoners in Action Will Follow Out.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Indianapolis, Oct. 9.—Attorneys for the defense continued to outline their case before the jury at the trial of the "dynamite plotters" today. "These 45 men," asserted William J. Harding, "were not dynamiters, but were as the evidence will disclose, lovers of peace and quiet. Witnesses will be brought from many cities to show the good reputations the defendants enjoy."

One by one Frank M. Ryan, president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, John T. Butler of Buffalo, vice president and other defendants were required to stand up so the jury might become acquainted with their faces.

M. C. Tift, of Minneapolis, counsel for Fred Mooney, Duluth and Charles N. Beum, Minneapolis, said it would be proven that photographs of non-union work under construction were taken, not for the use of the "dynamiting gang," but to enlighten the union as to where more employment might be had.

The government has charged that Beum, former member of the iron workers' executive board, visited Frank K. Painter, at Omaha, Neb., about a "job" to be done there; that at Winnipeg, Manitoba, he bought an alarm clock to be used for setting of bombs; and that he voted to supply money to carry out operations at Los Angeles. Mooney was accused of writing a letter about "real dynamiters" in reference to jobs.

Discussion on Districts. Mrs. R. H. Edwards, of Oshkosh, who presented the report of the committee on redistricting and revision, gave the impetus to the discussion when she moved that the convention order the establishment of federations of the state body's own making instead of following the congressional districts.

Discussion was at first orderly and well conducted. Arguments were presented by the various sides with precision and dignity. Mrs. A. J. Elmermann and Miss L. B. Stearns of Milwaukee, together with Mrs. A. F. Rote of Monroe lead the forces in favor of the motion.

On the other side favoring the present alignment, according to the congressional lines, Mrs. H. M. Youmans of Waukegan was the leader. Mrs. Youmans gave a very clear presentation of her side of the case, urging the need of a permanency in the federal boundaries and declaring that under the proposed plan there would be constant demand for revision and redistricting owing to dissatisfaction of various clubs.

Political Inconvenience. Mrs. Elmermann and her associates, however, persisted that the women's clubs should not be subjected to the inconveniences of political gerrymandering, intimating that the women of the state wanted to do their own branching out, conduct their own club work entirely independent of the many influences from without.

Mrs. Martin of Platteville objected to this attitude and declared that the federation ought not to tolerate any trace of a slur on the voters of the state or their wisdom in drawing district lines. The boundaries were determined according to population, which was undoubtedly the best division for club work as well as for political convenience. The women hoped to be voters some day, she said, and they should not start in with an attitude of antagonism which might indicate that they sought a separation of women's and men's interests.

At this point in the procedure the demand for a vote became persistent. Finally a rising vote was called by Chairman Pease and the affirmative side of the question received 55 votes. Here followed a most confusing interruption which finally ended in the motion for adjournment until 2:30.

Ends in Confusion. The question was raised whether persons rightfully entitled to a vote had voted on the affirmative side. A further complication was presented when it became known that a number of the delegates representing two clubs had two votes, and how would they be counted? A call was issued for a report from the credential committee which seemed disinclined or unprepared to give the information which was demanded. A postponement was suggested. In order to get an adequate report from the credential committee, it was moved to reconsider the first part of the vote. And when adjournment was finally taken the situation was far from being cleared and still promised complications when the convention met this afternoon.

Following the adjournment the various district caucuses were scheduled to take place, but owing to the fact that a score of impatient chauffeurs were tooting their horns at the door of the convention hall summoning the delegates to their next-day auto ride to the school for the blind where luncheon was served, these were postponed.

Action on Amendments. The first matter of business to come before the convention this morning was the consideration of the report of the committee on revision of the constitution and redistricting. Printed sheets were passed to the delegates indicating the proposed amendments to the federation constitution. The most important of these was the proposal of holding the state convention biennially instead of annually the sessions to alternate with those of the national meeting.

Mrs. R. H. Edwards, of Oshkosh, who presented the report, made a motion to the effect that the consideration of the amendments be postponed indefinitely. After considerable discussion, which was quietly conducted, through Thursday.

Federation Will Continue to Meet Annually As Consideration of Amendments Was Indefinitely Postponed—Addresses Today.

With a score of women wildly demanding recognition from the chair, and with as many others shouting suggestions and adding to the general confusion, while the chairman, Mrs. Pease, was beside herself to know just what to do and just whom to recognize, the morning session of the women's clubs convention broke up at a quarter past twelve this afternoon when someone finally thought of putting the motion to adjourn.

The controversy which threatened to throw gathering which up to this time had observed the utmost decorum into a state verging on a disorganized mob, was concerning the question whether the state should be divided into federations, districts, the boundary lines of which should be determined by the federation itself, or whether it should be organized as at present according to the congressional districts, which are changed once every ten years.

SCHOOL BUILDINGS MAY BE INSPECTED

F. D. DRESSLER OF WASHINGTON, D. C., AND STATE INSPECTOR OF SCHOOLS H. L. TERRY OF MADISON VISITED JANESVILLE.

CRITICISE STRUCTURES

Light, Sanitary Conditions and Other Essentials To Health Of Pupils Found Efficient.

On Tuesday Dr. F. D. Dressler, of Washington, D. C., one of the authorities on school sanitation, and connected with the government department of education and State Inspector of Schools, H. L. Terry, of Madison, connected with the office of State Superintendent of Schools Cary, visited Janesville, looked over the Jefferson, Lincoln, Garfield and High school buildings on an informal visit.

It was not an official inspection and was not brought about by the presence of infantile paralysis cases in the city. Mr. Terry has nothing to do with the health department of the state and his visit here was brought about by a communication to Mr. Cary last week, asking if it would be possible for an advisory inspection of the local schools relative to their sanitary conditions, ventilation, lighting and heating qualifications. Mr. Terry was on his way to the western part of the state and stopped over for the day, but remained here until this morning, meeting members of the school board and citizens last evening and freely discussing the situation as he found it.

The presence of Dr. Dressler, authority on such questions, was purely accidental but nevertheless, most acceptable. Dr. Dressler was in Madison for several days attending a meeting of county superintendents, and came to Janesville with Mr. Terry. While his visit here Tuesday was informal, it will doubtless be followed by a special trip to the city and formal inspection of all the school buildings with a view of making an advisory report to the board of education as to needed improvements, changes and alterations for the betterment of the schools.

Superintendent H. C. Buell, Dr. Buckmaster, president of the board of education, clerk of the board Clark Burnham, accompanied Mr. Terry and Dr. Dressler on their visit to the various buildings. Both the Jefferson and Lincoln school buildings they found in poor condition, as regards light, ventilation and sanitary conditions. They were, however, much pleased with the Garfield school, building grounds and general conditions. In the high school proper they found several rooms with not sufficient lighting facilities.

Dr. Dressler left for the east on the afternoon train but Mr. Terry remained over night and met members of the school board and citizens interested in the matter and freely expressed his views on the subject of advising radical changes in many of the buildings. It is understood that a resolution will be presented at the next meeting of the school board asking superintendent of schools Cary to send Mr. Terry to Janesville for the purpose of making a thorough inspection of all the school buildings and making an advisory report to the board that they may take action on it.

In the Jefferson school lighting facilities were found inadequate. The lighting area was very poor and should at once be remedied. The ventilation was poorly arranged and not sufficient, the presence of dirt in the building called to the attention of the janitor as dangerous to the health of the pupils and other conditions not found entirely satisfactory.

The same was true of the Lincoln school, here however serious objection was made to the narrow halls as well as to the ventilation and lighting which however, was considered much better than in the Jefferson school.

At the Garfield school the party found the conditions most excellent. They were much pleased with the ventilation system used, with the lighting and cleanliness of the building. In fact they made no criticism of the structure at all.

Janesville has dropped behind in the matter of its schools and is far in arrears of what other cities of the state are doing to keep their buildings up, even in condemning old buildings and erecting new ones. Almost every city in the state has spent many times the amount that Janesville has in the past decade on its schools and consequently the buildings here are in need of radical changes.

MAY NEED NEW STRINGERS FOR MILWAUKEE ST. BRIDGE

Found To Have Decayed Very Rapidly Since Inspected A Year Ago—Measurements Taken.

Recent investigations made by City Engineer C. V. Kerch disclosed the fact that the stringers of the Milwaukee street bridge have decayed a great deal since they were inspected a year ago and it is probable that plans for new stringers will be incorporated in the plans for re-decking the bridge. The decay in the last year has been rapid because the dilapidated condition of the floor permitted the water to seep through. Continual springing also has a deleterious effect. G. E. Hoenig of the City Engineer's office this morning took measurements of the stringers, no record of the bridge specifications ever having been preserved.

SHE TALKED ABOUT IT.

A very good thing to do, especially when it was her own doctor that she talked with. She wanted to know about Hall's Hair Renewer for falling hair and for promoting the growth of the hair. Now she is going to use it. Will have every confidence in it. No coloring of the hair, not in the least.

REDISTRICTING IDEA CAUSES AN UPROAR

The motion was unanimously carried. Address on Landmarks.

A brief report was given by Mrs. Jessie Skinner of Madison of the federation landmark committee in which she briefly indicated the work of the federation in marking historical sites in the state, notable among which was the dedication of a monument at Leslie marking the territorial capitol, exercises for which were held by the delegates on the day preceding the opening of the convention here yesterday.

Following this a very able address was given by the Rev. Frank A. Gilmore of Madison on the subject of "Landmarks." Not only did Mr. Gilmore review the various historical periods of the state of Wisconsin, dividing the period into four—the Indian, the French and the British occupations, and the immigration periods—but he also enumerated the various sites which were marked for those different periods, telling of forty-three in all.

Indicates Culture.
An interest in the affairs of the past, and an effort to learn of the early days of the race or of the early life of a community, is an indication of culture, declared the speaker. He praised the work of the women's clubs in adding in this historical study and pointed to some of the work which they had accomplished. He urged them to continue along these lines and to preserve to the state the interesting facts of invaluable consequence.

The only other paper read this morning was the report of the biennial or national federation meeting at San Francisco which was given by Mrs. W. K. Coffin of Eau Claire. She dwelt on the inspirational help which was derived from those sessions. She reviewed some of the more important matters there discussed including the matter of suffrage which was urged on the convention by the California delegation. It was ruled by Mrs. Morris that this matter was out of order as many of the club women were not ready to consider it at this time. Mrs. Pennypacker, the anti-suffrage candidate, was named president for the suffrage candidate by a good majority which indicated the tenor of the convention.

Social Gatherings.
In addition to the interesting addresses and papers which are given before the convention, the delegates have enjoyed some delightful social gatherings. One of the especially noteworthy events thus far was the chicken pie supper served by the ladies of the Baptist church to nearly four hundred of the ladies last evening. The church dining room was beautifully decorated and the tables were arranged most tastefully with cut flowers and pretty place cards in pink and lavender, the colors of the two Janesville clubs—the Art League and Philomathian—who are the hosts to the out of town delegates. The color scheme, pink and lavender, was carried out in a number of ingenious ways. Some of the delegates in commenting on the supper said it was the finest convention banquet they had ever attended.

The luncheon at the school for the blind at noon today was also very delightful. An auto ride to the school was a pleasing feature.

At the art hall this evening there will be a reception and an exhibition of pictures which promises to be a decided treat.
Another social event will be the luncheon to be given at the home of Miss Sue Jeffris on South Jackson street tomorrow afternoon at one o'clock. Delegates who will attend the event registered today.

ADD CONY STORY, head of Stearns. When the convention convened at 2:30 this afternoon the vote on the question of redistricting the state was taken up quietly and without any of the confusion that marked the morning discussion of the subject. When the final result was known it was found that the vote stood 115 for the present system and 74 against. This leaves the problem as it has been in the past.

The district caucuses, which were to have been held this morning, will be placed late this afternoon just before the report of the nominating committee. The regular program of the afternoon was then taken up, which included an address by Herbert S. Bigelow of Cincinnati in "Recasting Our Institutions."

Miss Stearns' Address.
At the opening session of the Wisconsin Federation of Women's Clubs convention this afternoon Miss Lottie E. Stearns of Milwaukee, presented an address on the topic, "We and Our Neighbors." In beginning she said:

"In the light of what is transpiring all over the world, civilized and uncivilized, it would seem, however, much we might wish to avoid anything so personal as of the one and only subject that could be taken for this hour were, 'We Women.'"

"War and women occupy the front pages of our daily newspapers at the present time, and in the light of what is happening, the alteration of the W's has a good deal to do with it. At no time during the world's history has the woman question been so treacherous, old ones re-published and merrily important and prominent."
Miss Stearns referred to some of some of the new ones, which deal with woman and her problems. John Stuart Mill, Ferrero, Emil Reich, Miss Putnam, Rudyard Kipling and other authors and their works were mentioned. But the greatest of recent books on women, said the speaker is the one written by Olive Schreiner, "The Story of an African Farm."
She quoted liberally from the book "which has to do with the examination of the work women do and are still doing in the modern world, and the evils which arise from the fact that her labor, especially domestic labor, of the most wearisome and unending kind to any section of the human race, is not adequately recognized or recompensed; and also that in years to come when woman gives up her independent field of labor, for marriage, she will not receive her share of the earnings of the man as a more or less eleemosynary benefaction, but an equal share as the fair division in an equal partnership."
Continuing Miss Stearns said: "Now to my mind, a tremendous ethical question is involved through the

A TONIC LAXATIVE Pe-ru na, an Up-to-Date Family Medicine That Should Be In Every Home

S. E. HARTMAN, M. D.

Nearly everybody is obliged more or less to take a laxative. There are of course a few exceptions. A great many people also need occasionally to take a tonic. Probably few households exist that do not make use of tonics and laxatives.

The remedy Peruna is a laxative tonic. It not only operates as a gentle laxative, but also as a tonic.

The benefit derived from such a remedy is a great deal more in the prevention of disease than in the cure. After a person has really become sick, either with an acute or chronic ailment, the rule should be to employ a physician, or some one who can give the case his personal attention. But long before this happens the person will complain of this or that symptom which is not severe enough to interfere with his regular activities. If at this place before the disease has really gained a foothold in the system, a person was to take a dose or two of a good tonic laxative, the great majority of cases of sickness would be prevented.

way the leisure of woman arising from the new conditions is utilized.

"The leisure vouchsafed to women under the new conditions has led to the establishment all over our land of thousands of women's clubs. The moral obligation involved in the establishment of such clubs is something wholly lost from sight. In many instances club life is regarded as simply a method for passing away an interesting afternoon; a pleasant tinnabulation when ideas are allowed to drop like water through the sieve of an ideal curiosity. I was present at the meeting at which our own Wisconsin Federation was organized and I have been loyally heart and soul with it from the hour of its birth. Today I would ask that there may go out from this meeting through all the years to come higher purposes and loftier ideals in its work. I would ask that a stand be taken for the right, without equivocation or compromise, upon every great public question, to the end that the Wisconsin Federation may let it be known to the citizens of the state that the Federation stands primarily for the home and right relations of family life; that it deplores modern individualism to the sacrifice of the home; that it will make no concessions to anything that debauches the home; that it stands for decency, honesty and integrity in public life without fear of political favor; that it stands for true democracy, without distinction to sex, race, creed, or nationality, to the end that Wisconsin, avowedly the most progressive state in the union, may become a democracy in the fullest sense of the term."

"It is my prayer that every club woman here present may return to her home determined to make this world through her efforts a better place in which to live; that every club woman here present may no longer affirm that she does not wish to take part in the great uplifting processes now going on; that every woman here present may throw off her boasted conservatism; that she may come to the realization of the fact that the most desolating curse that can come upon any woman or club is the curse of satisfaction, and that she will do everything within her power to remove this curse from her community until every influence destructive in any way of home life, sanitary, morally or in any other form, shall be brought to its death; that life and love and health and the pursuit of happiness may be the watchword in every city, village and hamlet in our state."

The following is the list of delegates and alternates who are attending the convention, the names being given as they are registered according to the various districts of the federation in the state:

Peruna is a remedy that should be kept in the house. Its virtue as a preventive to disease is the thing I wish chiefly to emphasize.

A slight condition of constipation may lead to serious sluggishness of the bowels, biliousness, re-absorption of poisonous material and finally sickness. Or apathy of the stomach in which the food is not relished, may gradually lead to atonic dyspepsia or to the acquisition of some acute disease. For either one of these conditions a few doses of the tonic laxative Peruna would set matters right. This is why the remedy should always be kept handy by.

When once the value of Peruna as a household remedy is understood no home would be without it. Cathartics, pills and powders would be discarded. Irritating tonics would be no longer taken. Alcoholic drinks would have no place. With a few doses of Peruna a vigorous appetite is produced and if there be any sluggishness of the bowels their function is gradually restored.

Most laxatives are weakening in their effect. A tonic laxative guards against this weakening effect. Until right living has become so thoroughly established that all medicines are superfluous, Peruna will be needed. It is exactly the remedy that meets numerous necessities of the household. Sold at all drug stores.

Mr. John B. Perkins, 23 Whiting St., Plymouth, Mass., writes: "I think Peruna is a number one medicine. I was troubled with catarrh and bowel complaint. I tried several doctors, but could only find temporary relief. I took Peruna and am glad to say that it cured my catarrh and corrected my bowels."

$2.25 (in very easy payments) for an 80-candle power incandescent Gas Lamp which consumes only 3 1/2 feet of Gas an hour—that's 2 1/2 hours light for one cent—is attractive to look at, is convenient, and gives the light which is nearest to daylight.

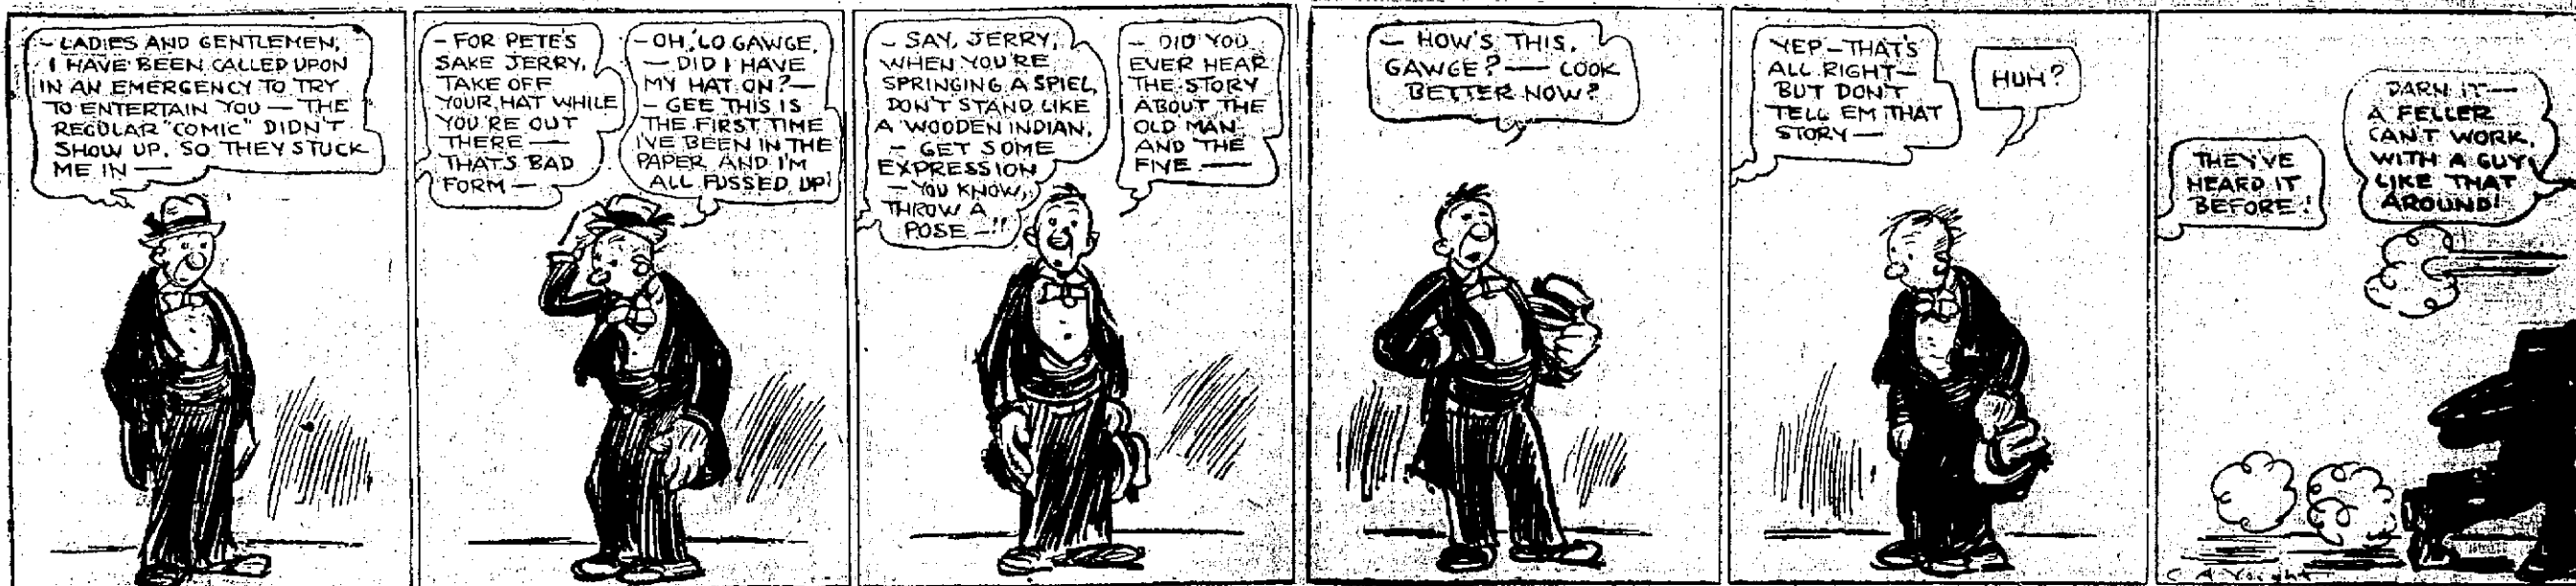

Let our representative install a "Home Light," and then you compare it with an open flame burner, which consumes just twice as much Gas. Why do we want to cut down our Gas sales, do you say? We don't cut them down; these lights are so satisfactory that persons who have not heretofore used Gas now do so wherever artificial light is required, and of course that increases our business.

Carroll Shilling, one of the greatest jockeys of the present day, has been ruled out of the American-turf for life. Shilling was set down for his ride on Adams Express at Havre de Grace recently when he was seen to slash another jockey with a whip. He will probably go abroad or to Canada to ride, for his suspension applies only to American tracks.

Joe Wood, the sensational pitcher of the Boston Red Sox, deserves all the fame that has come to him, and then some. Wood's total of victories for the season just closed was 34. He lost only five games. That's an average of 87.2, a mark never before approached in baseball, and that may stand for all time.

A feature of the world's series will be the presentation by the Chalmers Automobile Trophy commission of autos to Tris Speaker of Boston Red Sox and Larry Doyle of the New York Giants, during the games. The autos are to be given these men as a reward of merit, they having adjudged the most useful players to their respective teams in the big leagues.

During the two years that he has been in the ring he has met and vanquished Lobby Pittsley, of St. Louis, Jimmy Duffy, of Lockport, Bert Keyes of New York and Battling Nelson. He's a tough customer and should he win from Williams, will seek a bout with Phil Brock.

The announcement that the New England intercollegiate athletic committee has decided to pass Al Cutterson's New England collegiate broad jump record of 23 feet 5 3/8 inches means that a new college record has been made. W. P. Hubbard formerly held the record with a mark of 23 feet 2 3/4 inches.

There will be no Glidden automobile tour this year. Reason: so many of the automobilists who wanted to enter the contest did not care to be away from home for three weeks just before election. Also, objections were made to many sections of the proposed route from Detroit to New Orleans. Next year an earlier date will be chosen and in the meantime changes will be made in the route.

EX-GOVERNOR HOARD ON

McGOVERN.

McGovern has done the state one good service. He has taken himself out of the republican party; even if he had to be smoked out. This will help open the eyes of the thousands of our credulous republicans to the fact that they should have seen long ago, to wit, that the final tendency of this so-called progressivism is toward a selfish individualism, the old doctrine of every man for himself and the devil take the hindmost. The cause of sound, practical progress in state affairs has been helped a little by McGovern's final disposition of himself. It doesn't amount to much, for he was of light weight to start with, the natural product of that froth and foam thrown up for the time being by the primary law. Under the old caucus and convention system, no such man could have ever got to be governor. Jefferson County Union.

Mr. Hoard has the faculty of saying things hard, but he never gets very far from the truth. His estimate of McGovern, and the service he has rendered the republican party by getting out of it, will be endorsed by republican sentiment throughout the state. His opinion of the primary law will also be approved. It has unloaded on the state the cheapest lot of politicians that ever graced the payroll of any state. Men who serve not the state, but the czar to whom they are accountable, and when they cease to be subservient, they are invited to walk the plank.

The mistake that McGovern made, was that he fell into the tar barrel, on the way out, as La Follette puts it. This should be a warning to other pedestrians who may be contemplating desertion.

POLITICAL CORRUPTION.

When reciprocity was defeated in Canada, the claim was made that money was freely spent by the opposition and that political corruption honeycombed the dominion government. This is to say about political conditions in Canada.

Has the corruption of the ballot begun in Canada, too? For years, Canada has assumed an I-am-hollower-than-thou attitude to matters American, both political and financial. You see it reflected in the columns of the press every day of the year; and if you want to put one of my countrymen in fighting mood on the instant, just suggest that the Canadian courts are of spotlessly above reproach. Is the ballot being corrupted in Canada, too? Let a statement of fact answer that question, rather than argument. A few years ago, a provincial election promised to be very close in the West. In one city is a solid square of 20,000 foreigners. In a certain block, which I can name if challenged, there gathered together party manipulators; and in one week there were turned out in the same signature of all the names papers of naturalization for 300 foreigners, who could not speak, read, or write one word of English.

Now a foreigner must have resided in Canada three years and have two witnesses that he has done so before he gets his papers; so that these three hundred foreigners also represented three hundred perjuries. All this is not the end of the story. The opposition party were so furious at the swindle—so furious, too, at the defeat—that they sent proofs and papers of the corrupt practices down to the department of justice in Ottawa for action. It was during the Laurier regime; and as the authors of the trickery were conservative party heeled, it was not party feeling that restrained justice. People on the inside waited for the explosion. The explosion never came. Why not? Because one party said, "If you go after us for this, we'll go after you for that." And lo, silence fell! There was neither exposure nor punishment.

THE HEALTH REVIVAL.

That the health revival, to be started in the city next Sunday, is now, in full swing at Beloit, is evidenced by the following from the Free Press of that city.

"Daddy Flynn is the biggest man in town and will be the best known before the week is over. At the high school this morning he started a movement that promises to put the local school in the map for years to come.

"Mr. Flynn had the interest and co-operation of the six hundred students the moment he was introduced and at the end of the hour they gave him everything they had in the way of yells and promises to join in his campaign for health and the best high school in the country. Nobody who knows Beloit high school has any doubts about the boys and girls making good.

"Mr. Flynn not only talked in his inimitable manner, but he put the students through exercises in breathing and told them how to take exercise that would put them in trim to win honors for the school on the teams and in scholarship. A big majority expressed a desire to take up class work and Mr. Flynn told them how to proceed and promised to give them a start himself. Any father or mother who could have been present would have been proud to see the interest shown in Mr. Flynn's presentation of his message."

LIFE IS TOO SHORT.

"This American Chanticleer will find that the sun has arisen on November 5 next without his crowing. Yet it is well for us to be on our guard. If you can't get along without Roosevelt now, when can you? He says it will take forty years to accomplish his work. If he does not live that long, who is to complete it for him?"

This paragraph is from an address delivered by Governor Marshall of Indiana. It is suggestive of an ambition which knows no limit, as well as of the possibilities of an unlimited term in the office of the nation's chief executive.

If there was no other argument against the new party's candidate, this is sufficient to consign him to defeat. The American people may be idol worshippers, but they are not yet ready to establish a throne, and the opinion is gaining ground that the nation will survive should the colonel decide to spend another year in Africa.

AT ARMAGEDDON.

John L. Sullivan, former world's heavyweight prize fighter, has sent word to Matthew Hale, leader of the Roosevelt movement in Pennsylvania, that he desires to stump the state for the colonel. He is very anxious, he declares, to "punch 'em over the ropes" for the colonel.

In Washington the third term party's candidate for governor is a prize fighter.

Witness the spectacle of these two "pugs," and "Boss" Flynn, and "Boss" Perkins and "Boss" Woodruff and "Boss" Roosevelt, fighting for the Lord at Armageddon!—Idaho Statesman.

Doctor Wilson, the theoretical pedagogue, who aspires to be president, on the democratic ticket, would regulate the cost of living by establishing uniform prices. That may be good text-book political economy, but the unwritten law of supply and demand has always been the regulator of prices, and will continue to be. Democratic supremacy twenty years ago resulted in a light demand for everything but there was no particular joy in living. If the American people desire to repeat the experience they can accomplish their purpose by voting the democratic ticket this year. There are some things which are of more importance than the high cost of living, and one of them is the opportunity to be able to live at all, without the aid of a soup-house.

Senator La Follette refuses to be smoked out by the Wilsonites who offer to take him into the fold of a so-called Wilson republican club, which they propose to organize in the state. If he can't be regular, he proposes to be as regular as he can, with the Indian disposition for which he is noted. It is worth something to know that while he is "agin" the national administration, that his love for Wilson is not demonstrative, and that his detest for Roosevelt exhausts a wordy vocabulary. He will doubtless get off the fence before election, so that his admirers will know which way to jump.

The loss of American property in Mexico is estimated at $50,000,000 and the work of destruction still goes on. Our government seems powerless to protect American interests and attributes the cause to diplomatic relations with the South American nations. President Taft, some time ago, advised American citizens that they must look out for themselves, and many of them are doing this by

By ROY K. MOULTON.

The Dog Came Back.

I had a little dog and his name was Pete. He had a disposition that was sweet. He played with all the people on our street.

And he was never cross or surly. He made a lot of friends, as the good dogs do.

The groceryman loved him, and the ice man, too. He was a real good dog, through and through.

His hair was long and curly.

I lost my little dog on a summer's day.

The butcher boy came and he lured him away.

I mourned the little fellow till my hair turned gray.

For I missed his cunning pranks and capers.

I searched for him high and I searched for him low.

And there wasn't any place that I didn't go.

I couldn't find a trace of the little dog, though.

I had advertised in all the papers.

But my little dog came back to me.

And he sure was a sorrowful sight to see.

He had changed a whole lot and I said, "O-Gee!"

What a difference just a week can make.

That very small poodle that I'd known of yore.

Was not the frisky Peter that he was before.

The butcher's boy delivered him at my back door.

The men with false teeth should cheer up. The green corn season will soon be over.

Reports say that Turkey uses $50,000,000 worth of cotton goods each year, and it sometimes seems from the odor as though some of the remnants got into those Turkish cigarettes.

It is said Eugene Debs is not making a strenuous effort to be elected president this time, but he should flee the country. Conditions are deplorable, and some way should be found to relieve them.

Anthracite coal is being mined at the rate of six and one-half million tons a month, and if cars can be found to handle it, there is no danger of a fuel famine, and no occasion for prices to advance.

Over confidence, on the part of the democratic party, has caused a slump in campaign contributions, and the $700,000 still needed to round out the campaign is difficult to locate. The other parties are also short of cash.

Settled Out of Court.

Gus Forsman was an honest Swede who settled in Cowley county, Kansas, on a one hundred and sixty acre claim near the Flint Hills. The Missouri Pacific Railway passed his land on the west, and took from Gus' meadow about thirty acres of fine grass land. To get even, Gus used to lariat his cow on the right of way. This cow was the only milk cow he had and Gus and his family of little Forsmans derived a great deal of their bread as well as their butter from that cow.

One day a cylinder head from a passing engine blew out, and struck the cow on the head, killing her instantly. Gus was indignant and swore in three languages, Swede, Latin and English. This cursing reached the ears of the railroad company, and a claim agent waited on Gus.

"Now Mr. Forsman," said the agent, "your cow was a trespasser; she had no business on our right of way; I come to settle with you, and am in a hurry. I am the claim agent of the company. How will you settle?"

"Now Meester Claim Agent," said Gus, "I ban after no trouble with your railroad company; I ban poor Swede farmer; I just give you two dollar, and you go to H— with your railroad company, and let me alone."

CONFERENCE OF CANADIAN CHARITIES AND CORRECTION.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Montreal, Oct. 9.—The Canadian Conference of Charities and Correction, which had its opening here today in connection with the Child Welfare Exhibition has attracted to Montreal many men and women who have made a scientific study of means and methods of alleviating suffering among the poor and stamping out poverty and its entailed evils. The United States as well as Canada is represented on the list of speakers. The discussions of the conference, which will continue over several days, will be conducted under the general heads of public charities, children delinquency, the mental defectives, families and neighborhoods, the delinquent, public health and housing, sickness and dependency, and recreation and education.

Good Qualities.

He alone is worthy of respect who knows what is of use to himself and others, and who labors to control his self-will. Each man has his own fortune in his hands; as the artist has a piece of rude matter, which he is to fashion to a certain shape. But the art of living rightly is like all arts; the capacity alone is born with us; it must be learned, and practiced with incessant care.

TOTAL ECLIPSE OF SUN TAKES PLACE TOMORROW.

Will Not Be Visible in United States Except in Extreme South of Florida.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9.—There is to be a total eclipse of the sun tomorrow, but few persons in the United States and none in Canada will have an opportunity to view the phenomena. Residents of southern Florida, if conditions are favorable, will be treated to a partial performance by Sol when he hides himself behind the moon.

The path of totality will cross South America from a point near Quito, Ecuador, to Rio Janeiro, Brazil. The best place, it is figured, for observing the eclipse will be in the vicinity of the Brazilian metropolis. Here the astronomers from America and Europe have set up instruments with long, unpronounceable names to take observations during the two minutes of the total phase.

A total eclipse is of popular interest because as a mere spectacle it is one of the most beautiful presented to human eyes. But the problems upmost in the minds of the scientists in connection with solar eclipses are those relating to the sun's corona, which can be seen only when the sun is hidden by the moon. It is an appendage to the sun, consisting of very tenuous gases chiefly, and apparently kept out in its position by a repellent power of the sun.

Select the Beautiful Way.

There is a beautiful and an ugly way in which to say almost everything, and happiness depends upon which way we take. You can upset a person for a whole day by the harsh way in which you may call him in the morning, or you may give him a beautiful start by the cheerfulness of your greeting. So not only in words, but in all the little common courtesies and duties of life, think of the beautiful way of doing each.—D. L. Porter.

MUCH EVIDENCE IS GIVEN AT HEARING

BERGSTERMAN MURDER EXAMINATION HELD BEHIND CLOSED DOORS AT MUNICIPAL COURT.

DETAILS ARE OBTAINED

From Many Witnesses As to the Details of the Crime for Which Berger and Meyer Are Held Without Bail.

Testimony in the preliminary examination of Harry F. Berger and Edward Meyer, charged with the murder of Matilda Bergsterman on the night of September 30, was commenced in municipal court this morning before Judge Charles L. Fifield. At noon the testimony of only two witnesses had been heard and adjournment was taken until half past one o'clock, as the state had several more witnesses to introduce, before the defense could take up its case. Attorney Charles Fifield is assisting the defense in the prosecution while the defense is represented by Attorney Thomas S. Nolan.

Spectators Excluded.
A large crowd was in the court room long before the time set for the hearing and by nine o'clock all the chairs in the room were filled. At ten o'clock the court room was packed to the doors and others were in the corridors trying to force their way in. In the crowded large frosted glass pane in one of the doors was broken.

But the would-be spectators and listeners at the hearing were disappointed when, after the case was called, District Attorney Dunwiddie made a motion that because of the nature of some of the testimony, the court room be cleared of all persons with the exception of witnesses be excluded. The motion was agreed to by Mr. Nolan, and the court ruled that all persons with the exception of witnesses, members of the families of the defendants, Berger and Meyer, and representatives be expelled.

This order was put into effect and the doors locked. A heavy horse blanket was nailed over the opening in the door where the glass had been broken out, and people in the corridors were driven out.

Drs. J. W. Gibson and R. W. Edden, who performed the autopsy on the body of Miss Bergsterman were the only two witnesses examined this morning, over an hour being given to the testimony of Dr. Gibson. At the opening of the case, the district attorney requested that the cases against the two young men be consolidated, and with the agreement of Mr. Nolan, this was ordered by the court.

Dr. Gibson was the first witness put on the stand by the state. His testimony being largely as to the investigation of the wounds, bruises, marks and discolorations found on the body of Matilda Bergsterman when the autopsy was performed by himself and Dr. Edden. He was examined especially as to the wounds on the body which might indicate that a criminal attack had been made, whether such wounds might be made by a criminal attack, or by illicit relations with the consent of the person attacked, and as to the manner in which Miss Bergsterman had met her death.

In his testimony he stated that from his examination of the woman's body she was not of an immoral nature, and that the wounds had been produced by a struggle. Blood in the neck, he said, indicated that she might have met her death by suffocation, and physiological reasons for this were given. The distention of the blood vessels, he stated, might also indicate death by suffocation. His opinion as to the cause of death was given as exhaustion, by a severe struggle, followed by exposure, or suffocation, and even in case of exposure there was some suffocation. Suffocation, he testified, might have been caused without leaving any marks on the body, by holding a hand over the mouth or nose, or a cloak over the head, or in any way excluding the air for a minute and a half or two minutes.

In the cross-examination of the witness by Mr. Nolan, the doctor stated that the scratches and wounds on the body had been made before death and there had been nothing to indicate she had been choked by hands. In his opinion, he said, it had been necessary for two men to use their strength to make the attack, in case the woman were not willing. There had been no hemorrhage after death he stated.

Dr. R. W. Edden, the other witness called this morning told of his examination of the body of Matilda Bergsterman at the Bergsterman home and at the Nelson morgue, and of performing the autopsy with Dr. Gibson on the remains. His opinion was that death had been caused by exposure, or suffocation, and probably by smothering. In the cross-examination he stated the woman could not have smothered by lying face down on the floor. As to whether or not she had been dead or alive, he could not state positively.

Bergsterman Case Pending.
Nothing was done this morning with regard to the case against Fred Bergsterman, father of Matilda Bergsterman, whose examination on the charge of murder was set for today. It is understood the authorities have been holding him merely as a witness in the present case.

This afternoon Ben Fuelleman, who stated he was twenty, testified that he met the two prisoners, Meyer and Berger shortly after twelve, the night the girl died, as he was going home and that they told him the state had wanted him to go to the Bergsterman home to play doctor so as to fool the old man.

Fuelleman also testified as to drinking with both Meyer and Berger in various saloons in the past and gave the names of three he purchased liquor in during the past summer. He thought Meyer was drunk when he met him. He also told of playing cards for money in a well known cigar store. This and the drinking in saloons were gone into in detail.

Tuesday morning and to Mr. Weber on Wednesday. He said when the boys told him the story he did not believe it. He said that Meyer's face was scratched when he met them and Meyer told him the girl had done it.

L. E. Conklin was later on the stand to tell of being notified of the woman's death the next morning by Bergsterman and how he notified others of the death.

Mr. Conklin testified that he went to the house the morning after the murder about six or seven minutes before Police Officer Champion arrived. He relates that on inspection of the premises they found the coat of the dead woman and her handkerchief a few feet away from the house and also a safety pin. Mr. Conklin was followed on the stand by Patrolman Champion who testified that there were different places near the house in close proximity to one another where the grass had been beaten down. He also presented in court wisps of hair which he had picked up in the grass near there. Attorney Nolan asked that the exhibit be excluded as evidence but his motion was overruled by Judge Fifield. In response to the cross-questioning of Attorney Nolan Patrolman Champion said he saw no evidence that the ground about the house had been torn up. He said, and there were "stickers" in her hair.

CHARGED WITH SALE OF LIQUOR TO TWO MINOR BLIND BOYS

Richard F. Finley, Who Conducts A Saloon At 22 South River Street Put Under Arrest.

Charged with selling liquor to Philip Hudson and Joseph Graebner, both minors and pupils at the State Institute for the Blind, on Saturday, September 14, Richard F. Finley, who conducts a saloon at 22 South River street was placed under arrest last night by Chief of Police George Appleby. The complaint was made out by City Attorney W. H. Dougherty yesterday afternoon, but because of the absence of Mr. Finley from the city the warrant could not be served on him until his return last night. On the motion of the city attorney and with the consent of Attorney O. E. Oestreich, who appeared for the defendant, the trial of the case was this morning adjourned until Wednesday, October 16. It is expected that this action will be an entering wedge in a systematic campaign of prosecutions to be brought against those retail liquor dealers who have made a practice of selling or giving liquor to minors. The action against Finley is brought under the sixth section of Chapter 28, Revised Ordinances of the City of Janesville.

MRS. ALICE WELLS IS INTERESTED IN CITY

First Woman Member of a Police Department Who Spoke Here on Sunday Again Visits City.

Mrs. Alice Stebbins Wells, the first woman police officer in the United States, and a member of the Los Angeles California police department, is much interested in Janesville and its possibilities. Mrs. Wells spoke here on Sunday afternoon at Library Hall to the women, under the auspices of the Women's Suffrage organization and made a decided impression upon her audience. She went to Chicago where considerable attention was paid to her presence by the press of that city but returned to Janesville Tuesday, with Miss Jane Addams and spent today inspecting the city and looking over the conditions that exist here.

Mrs. Wells' father, Homer Stebbins, was a residence of Janesville for a short time some fifty years ago. He was a printer and spent some months in the city working as type setter on the Gazette, later going to Beloit where he also worked for some months and then went to Oberlin college. Later he entered the newspaper work in the west and was one of the pioneer editors in Western Kansas. His name may be remembered by some of the oldest residents although Mrs. Wells says he was a young man when he visited Janesville.

Mrs. Wells is a little woman, five feet two inches, and is dressed in a regular police woman's uniform, the Los Angeles police officer's lettering on the collar L. A. P. D. and wears a policeman's badge of the Pacific coast city. Her uniform is bound with regular military binding and of the regulation color and cut. She is much interested in her work and in the cities she visits. When asked what Janesville needed she freely expressed herself "restriction of the saloon traffic and you can clean up any city in the country. In Los Angeles they are kept in a certain district and under police supervision and matters run smoothly."

Mrs. Wells believes that a woman police officer would work wonders in Janesville, in fact in every city in the country where young girls are employed in any numbers.

It is a well known fact that a young girl, no matter how depraved she may be, dislikes to unfold her tale of woe to a man," she said. "Therefore I believe that there should be a department of the city police separate and distinct from the regular force, to be presided over by a woman, who should have a sufficient number of assistants, and whose duty it would be to take charge of matters wherein women, particularly young girls, are concerned."

Mrs. Wells is under civil service and a member of the Los Angeles department for life, unless she should resign. Since her appointment other women have been added to the Los Angeles department and other departments in cities all over the country. She is at present on a furlough on a tour of inspection of cities throughout the country to see how they handle matters which Los Angeles is just confronting for the first time. Also incidentally she is much interested in suffrage and talks quite freely in favor of her pet idea.

True Charity.

Thinkers of the most different schools and sects would probably agree that true charity demands of us money, but also something more than money; personal service, sacrifice of time and thought.—Sir Leslie Stephen.

PROMINENT WOMEN ON SUFFRAGE QUESTION

How Leading Club Women the Country Over Look at the Question of Equal Rights.

The club women of the country are becoming keenly interested in woman suffrage. Clubs in many states of the union are studying woman suffrage. Many individual clubs have endorsed woman suffrage. Seven state federations have taken the same unequivocal stand.

At the last annual convention of the Wisconsin State Federation of Women's clubs at Green Bay, in October, 1911, Wisconsin club women unanimously adopted a resolution favoring the study of woman suffrage by the clubs of the state and asking that woman suffrage be given place on the program at the convention of 1912.

In harmony with this action many of the clubs of the state have heard suffrage speakers and debates during the past year, and Miss Jane Addams is to speak on suffrage at the coming convention in Janesville, Oct. 8, 9, 10.

In view of this situation, Wisconsin club women will be interested to learn that the state federations of every state whose borders touch Wisconsin have declared in favor of suffrage for women.

Only a fortnight ago, Sept. 19, the state federation of Minnesota, in session at Dodge Center, endorsed suffrage. This action came as a result of the notification, by Mrs. C. G. Higbee, former state president, and chairman of the committee on charities and corrections, given at the mid-winter meeting of the federation, in the following terms:

"Obviously, there is increasing need of woman's work in the development and care of dependent children; for the protection of young girls; in the regulation of public utilities; in the elimination of dangerous social conditions; in securing justice for wage-earning women, and in all measures relating to the welfare of our sex.

"It is inevitable that thoughtful women realize that this work might be more easily and fully accomplished if women were balloting instead of begging. Our boasted 'indirect' influence is found to be of very fluctuating value.

"Therefore as chairman of the charities and correction committee, I now give notice that this federation will be asked at its next annual meeting, in September, to advocate for economic reasons, the equal suffrage movement."

When the suffrage motion came to a vote in the Minnesota convention, only three votes were cast against it.

The Michigan State Federation endorsed votes for women at the convention at Battle Creek in October, 1910.

The Iowa State Federation passed a resolution favoring it at the convention at Sioux City in May, 1911.

The Illinois State Federation has three times endorsed woman suffrage bills, in 1902, 1904 and 1906. A strong general suffrage resolution was passed by the Illinois federation in 1912.

Besides these neighboring states, which form a frame for the state of Wisconsin as it lies on the map, the state federations of Kansas and California and Nevada have formally gone on record as favoring woman suffrage.

I cannot find that this action has anywhere alienated any, even of the conservative clubs as predicted by the faint-hearted. The worst that has happened in any of these seven states seems to be in Minnesota, where two women have threatened to leave the federation, on the instance of the withdrawal of a club from our state federation as a result of this action. The action never seemed to make any difference in the harmony of the work of the federation.

A past president of the federation of California writes: "The action taken by our federation was preceded by the usual assurances of those who had no knowledge of the progress of the movement in the state, that clubs would leave the federation and great inharmonious would prevail, but in spite of this the resolution carried overwhelmingly. The club women of the state all feel this action was one of the great determining influences which brought about the success of the amendment presented in October, 1911, to the voters of the state and which resulted in our enfranchisement."

"While in any matter there is always some difference of opinion, yet the majority of the club women of California felt it was a mistake not to endorse the principle of equal suffrage at the Biennial, and our women are making an effort not to have, that mistake repeated."

It should be noted that only one of the seven states which have endorsed woman suffrage, California, is an equal suffrage state. In those states which have not yet had woman suffrage—Colorado, Wyoming, Idaho, Utah—there is no votes-for-women issue, and therefore no reason for endorsement by the state federations.

But the actual endorsement of suffrage by these seven states does not begin to measure the interest felt in the subject by club women. From many parts of the country comes word of the growth of suffrage sentiment.

The Pennsylvania president writes: "It has been presented before, one state meeting and will be presented again; the sentiment favoring suffrage is gaining ground."

The president of Oregon sends word: "Our federation has not endorsed woman suffrage but, most of the clubs have individually endorsed it and are working hard for it."

The Ohio president writes: "In my opinion club women of this state are quite favorable to equal suffrage."

The Missouri president expresses exactly the same opinion of the club women of her state.

This is the opinion of the New Jersey president: "Personally I have been a suffragist for many years but I think New Jersey will likely be the last state in the union to adopt woman suffrage."

Whoever is conversant with political conditions in New Jersey, will not be disposed to object to this prediction.

The Massachusetts and Virginia presidents write that the club women of those states are divided on the subject of suffrage.

The president of the New Mexico federation writes that the "Spanish-Americans are to a man against suffrage."

The 6,000 members of the 215 clubs of Oklahoma are planning to devote some time this year to the study of political science as a preparation for citizenship, and the state president asked the writer for assistance in preparing an outline of study.

From the Canal Zone came an interesting letter, explaining that the Zone is really only a labor camp and that men as well as women are debarrd from voting there. The president writes: "I know of a few intelligent women here who stand for suffrage. Your communication has been the means of presenting the question forcibly to my mind and I think I shall ask that a canvass be taken throughout the women's organizations in the Canal Zone in order that we may arrive at some definite idea of the number of women who favor equal franchise."

The state federation president in New York is Miss Mary G. Hay, one of the best known suffrage workers in the country. She writes: "We have had the subject presented at our state conventions for the last five years, and three times had one evening given to a suffrage address. We now have a standing committee on suffrage, a majority of clubs of this state are favorable to equal suffrage."

The North Carolina president writes that the federation there has a committee investigating the legal status of women, this investigation having been brought about by the recently discovered fact that women cannot be elected to school board membership in that state because they are not voters.

While the conservatism of club women is proverbial, their eventual interest in woman suffrage is inevitable. The club has developed in its members an active interest in social, industrial and economic conditions; and in these conditions, the club member is learning are so inextricably interwined with politics, local or state or national, that it is difficult for the non-voter to reach them. Many club women have already discovered, others are discovering every day, that the ballot is merely a direct and effective means for attaining such objects as club women have for years been trying to secure through the circuitous and ineffective means of indirect influence.

OSHKOSH MEN HAVE ORGANIZED FOR TAFT

(By Associated Press.)

Oshkosh, Oct. 8.—A Taft and Sherman club was formed here last night by Taft Republicans and the following officers were elected: president, W. J. Campbell, vice-president, Carl W. Hollister, treasurer, F. A. LaBudda; secretary, D. C. Pinkerton. An executive committee will be appointed. A number of talks were given in which the members of the club were urged to come out and show their colors, wear Taft buttons and talk for the re-election of Taft. It was argued that personalities of all kinds should be dropped and the chief attention given to the actual issue at stake. Among those speaking were George B. Hambrich, of Grand Rapids, former assemblyman, who is here in Oshkosh assisting W. M. Bray, in the Taft management in Wisconsin.

Desecrated Burial Vault.

In a dilapidated old vault in a churchyard in Philadelphia, containing the bones of some colonial man or maiden, a group of roving men were found the other night, laughing, talking, smoking and shooting "craps."

The vault in which they sat was the oldest in Old Trinity and it is falling into decay. For more than a week residents of the neighborhood had heard uncanny sounds emanating from the churchyard after midnight, and the place was believed to be "haunted."

J. BRUCE ISMAY MAY QUIT AS PRESIDENT

J. Bruce Ismay.

The approaching retirement of J. Bruce Ismay, president of the international mercantile marine company, who was rescued from the Titanic, is under consideration. Ismay has been asked to take the chairmanship of an English railway company.

In the event of his retirement Philip A. S. Franklin, the American vice-president of the company, is mentioned as his probable successor.

Named for General Wadsworth.

Fort Wadsworth in New York harbor is not named for Capt. Joseph Wadsworth, but for Gen. James Santuel Wadsworth of Genesee, N. Y. General Wadsworth raised a regiment when the Civil war broke out, served with distinction, and was killed in the battle of the Wilderness. In his memory, the name of Fort Tompkins was changed to Fort Wadsworth.

HEED UP ROCK ISLAND EXPRESS IN OKLAHOMA

(By Associated Press.)

Port Smith, Ark., Oct. 8.—Twenty-five Arkansas deputy sheriffs today are trailing two desperadoes who last night robbed a west bound Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific express between Howe and Wister, Okla. Blatantly preceding the deputies picked up the bandits' trail at a point where they were seen to enter a corn field after the hold-up. The robbers only got a small package of mail which is believed to have contained nothing of much value.

INDICT FIFTEEN MEMBERS OF MOUNTAINEER FACTION

(By Associated Press.)

Jackson, Ky., Oct. 8.—After "Ed" Callahan, former sheriff of Breathitt county, Kentucky, was slain from ambush a few months ago, his daughter, Mrs. Clifton Gross, vowed to find the assassins. She spent night and day in the lonely mountain trails seeking evidence which, presented to a grand jury resulted today in the indictment of fifteen members of the Deaton faction. The killing of Callahan was a notable feature of one of Breathitt county's most bitter feuds.

OSHKOSH WANTS FACTORY AND MAY RAISE MONEY

(By Associated Press.)

Oshkosh, Oct. 8.—A beet sugar factory for Oshkosh is now a matter of raising $100,000 among Oshkosh business men. Farmers of the county have agreed to put in $150,000 and an outside sugar concern has agreed to put in $200,000 which would make a total of $450,000 which with a bond issue of $250,000 will be sufficient to operate a 500 ton factory. A meeting of the beet sugar people prompt action was urged in order to make contracts for raising beets next year.

It Is YOUR Privilege To Wear The BEST Clothes Made

IF you are not benefiting by this prerogative it is because you have failed to investigate the trading proposition at this store. We are displaying here Suits, Coats and Dresses not of the ordinary, every day, passably good sort, but absolutely the best American manufacture. We are distributors to the people---providing apparel of elegance and refinement on a most reasonable basis, as is evidenced by the splendidly tailored garments at $12.50 to $40.00.

Women who show taste and judgment in the selection of personal attire usually display similar characteristics in other directions.

DRUNKEN PROWLERS ROUTED BY DOCTOR

Dr. S. B. Buckmaster Obligated To Wield Poker On Man Who Refuses To Get Off Veranda.

Drunken prowlers had best clear of the premises of Dr. S. B. Buckmaster, 502 South Main street, for the doctor is prepared to administer to them the same drastic treatment that he gave one who last night insisted in holding forth on the rear veranda of his home. Late in the evening he heard steps there and went out to investigate. Standing near the window was a big drunken man, larger than himself. To the doctor's question he replied with a grunt and a few incoherent words about wanting to find the railway. He refused to get off the porch until Dr. Buckmaster rapped him smartly on the shoulder with a big poker that was within reach of his left arm. Then he seemed to awake to what was expected of him and started to walk toward Main street.

Not long afterward Dr. Buckmaster, curious to know what course his unwelcome visitor had taken, walked north on Main street for some distance. He met Mr. John Arbuthnot and also a police officer, but neither had seen the drunken man. When he returned to his home he found that his visitor had returned and was camping on the front veranda where Mr. Arbuthnot was vainly attempting to persuade him to leave. The doctor was then about to use the argument of a stout bamboo walking stick on the man's head when the latter decided that it would not be healthy to remain a "stand-patter" and walked off. Before he had taken his departure another man of the same stamp walked into the front yard and had to be driven away.

This is not the first instance in which the doctor has been annoyed by drunken men. He believes that they become confused in attempting to find Racine street bridge and unless the nuisance ceases, thinks it will be necessary to fence in his premises or have a guide provided for the drunks. He has made no complaint to the police.

WOODROW WILSON KEPT VERY BUSY IN ST. LOUIS.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 9.—Governor Woodrow Wilson, democratic candidate for president, will arrive here from Springfield, Ill., late this afternoon, and is scheduled to make four addresses before departing for Chicago. Tonight a torch light procession will be held in his honor and the democratic managers declared that 20,000 men have agreed to march. Scheduled to arrive at 4:00 p. m. Governor Wilson will be driven to the Civic Club where he will speak first. From there he will go to East St. Louis for a thirty minute speech to begin at 5:30. Returning to this city the democratic nominee for president will be the guest of the democratic editors of Missouri at a banquet at 6:30. During the banquet the torchlight procession will be formed to escort the New Jerseyman to the Coliseum where he is to deliver the principal address during his visit.

SOCIALISTS WILL ASK FOR AMENDMENT OF BONDING LAW.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Manitowoc, Wis., Oct. 9.—Socialists of the state will ask the legislature at the coming session to amend the bonding law limit for the city to permit municipalities to issue bonds in excess of the five per cent. limit for the special purpose of public utilities. The proposed measure will provide for the issuance of bonds for acquiring public utility to the amount of five to ten per cent of the assessed valuation of the city. Mayor Stolve, socialist of this city, and one of the few socialists of the country outlining this in connection with plans for acquiring the electric light plant for the city which is being opposed on the grounds that the city needs a new high school building and cannot issue bonds to the limit higher than five percent.

FARMER SEVERELY BURNED WHILE FIGHTING FIRE.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Manitowoc, Wis., Oct. 9.—Chas. Hanke, a prominent farmer residing outside the city, was severely burned yesterday while fighting a fire which threatened to destroy his barn. Hanke was cutting corn and sparks from the gasoline engine started the blaze. In mounting to the roof of the barn to fight the flames, he became caught by his clothing and was held a prisoner while the fire played about the lower part of his body. His legs, feet and back were severely burned and the flesh was burned off his hands. His condition is considered serious but it is believed he will recover.

BRITISH IMPERIAL TRADE COMMISSION IN SESSION.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
London, Oct. 9.—The Imperial Trade Commission, which has now practically assumed the functions of a grand council of the British Empire for the adjustment and improvement of trade conditions, resumed its sittings today. The present inquiry is to be conducted with especial reference to the commercial relations of the mother country and other portions of the empire with Canada, which is represented at the conference by Hon. George E. Foster, minister of trade and commerce in the Borden cabinet. The inquiry is to embrace a general investigation into trade conditions, a survey of the natural resources of the Dominion, their facilities for production, manufactures and sources of supply, and a discussion of ways and means for improving the present system of promoting immigration.

NOTED BLIND EDUCATOR REACHES EIGHTIETH YEAR.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
London, Oct. 9.—Sir Francis J.

Campbell, the noted blind educator and scholar who for more than forty years has been at the head of the Royal Normal College and Academy of Music for the Blind, celebrated his eightieth birthday anniversary today. In view of the many years that Sir Francis has given to the Royal Normal College it is not surprising that even among those intimately associated with him the fact has been almost forgotten that he is a native of the United States and had established his reputation as an educator of the blind at the famous Perkins Institution in Boston before he came to England in 1870.

ARCHAEOLOGISTS IN CONFERENCE AT ROME

Nearly Five Hundred From All Parts of the World in Attendance—Five Day Session.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Rome, Oct. 9.—With an attendance of nearly 500 of the most prominent archaeologists and historians from all parts of the world, the third International Congress of Archaeology assembled in Rome today for a session of five days. The United States is represented at the congress by a large and distinguished delegation, the members of which include Prof. George M. Wheeler of the Archaeological Institute of America, Prof. Arthur Frothingham of Princeton University, Prof. Joseph Clark Hoppin of Providence, Dr. Ivan H. Linforth of the University of California, Prof. Charles S. Goodwin of Lehigh University, and Dr. Charles Peabody of Harvard University.

The session of the congress today was held in the historic Castle of San Angelo. The subjects to be dealt with during the five days of the congress comprise pre-historic, Oriental, pre-Hellenic, Italian and Etruscan archaeology, the history of classic art, Greek and Roman antiquities, epigraphy, numismatics, mythology, history of religions, ancient topography, and Christian archaeology.

JEALOUSY THE CAUSE, SAYS TURK DIPLOMAT

Zio Pasha, Turkish minister to the United States, declares that jealousy is the cause of the present uprising in the Balkans. "The pretext for attacking Turkey in the case of Bulgaria, Serbia and Greece is their dissatisfaction with the treatment of Macedonia," he says. "The population of Macedonia is made up of Bulgars, Serbs, Turks and Greeks. All these nationalities want 'autonomy,' each hoping to get the better of the others if the revolt is successful, and each encouraged by the independent state of its own nationality which hopes to annex the whole country to its territory."

Proper Method of Writing.

A twisted spine or writer's cramp are the alternates between which the French government has to choose in establishing once for all the type of handwriting to be taught in the schools. Some years ago there was a unanimous outcry from the doctors against teaching children to write a sloping hand, the promised result being a race of hunchbacks.

BRITISHERS' CASP AT GABY'S GLIDE

Gaby Deslys.

In the news dispatches from London it is apparent that Gaby Deslys, the clever French dancer who wrought King Manuel's downfall and who is soon to visit America, just succeeded admirably in startling England with her new dance at the Palace theatre and getting the British censor in hot water. In defiance to the outcry made in the press, the manager of the theatre has induced Mlle. Deslys to omit from the sketch the particular features which have aroused the indignation of the critics.

The Old Wagon Show.
The wagon show of long ago, it had a funny clown; we lined the way at break of day to see it into town. Our money went to the last cent to get us boys inside. But what of that? For hours we sat with eyes distended wide. The wagon show of long ago, it only had one ring, and we could sit close to it, and never miss a thing.

Good Eaters Are Good Fighters

Whether at Work or Play, Endurance Comes from Good Digestion, Always Assured by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Men and women must have quick wit and good grit to stand the day's battles. A dyspeptic may get away with his work, but is always at sword's point with those around him. A good stomach and a good meal well digested puts us in a good, jolly, fighting mood, the sort that mows down work and commands the hearty cooperation of our associates. The man at the head of a business who has a good stomach has behind him a good fighting force against competition and the daily mixups that are bound to take place. In fact, a well organized business is like our digestive system.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets as soon as taken into the system go right to work as assistants to the stomach, rendering it an immense amount of help in working out the very complex processes of digestion, encouraging it in the performance of its functions, relieving it of a portion of its duties, thereby allowing it a temporary respite, and also toning up, strengthening, revitalizing its secretory glands, mucous membranes, absorbing glands and muscular walls in such a way that the stomach soon recovers its lost powers of digestion, motility, assimilation and ultimately does its work as well as ever without outside assistance.

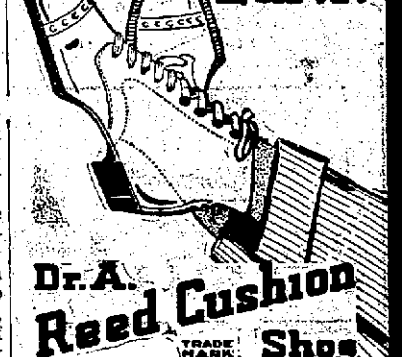

These powerful little tablets contain in a concentrated form, every element necessary to digest all forms of food, whether meats, vegetables, cereals, eggs, fish, etc., and they act equally well in an acid or an alkaline medium. If your stomach is ailing, does not digest as quickly or as thoroughly as it should, and your entire system in consequence is suffering from malnutrition and mal-assimilation, you owe it to yourself to give the abused stomach assistance to help it out of its present condition.

The solution of your stomach-trouble problem is easy: Go to your druggist at once and secure a package, then take one or two after each meal or as required, then note the difference in the way you feel. All druggists sell them. Price 50 cents.

Few Exceptions.

You Can Save One-Third On All Purchases at Reid's Here's a Store Where You Can Practice True Economy.

OVER 33 years of successful selling, an unwavering, unceasing effort to place the best goods on the local market at the least price has had its own reward. At no other season in all these 33 years have we done more business than we have this Fall. Year after year and year after year people appreciate more and more how much this store means to them.

A Great Fur Store

NO need for anyone to be without beautiful furs when such fine ones are to be had for as little as the Reid prices. They are fine—just as fine as can be bought anywhere. And yet you pay one-third less at this store than you do elsewhere.

Women's Coats at One-Third Off

Your money never commanded so much in the way of coats, the reason is not hard to find. We're after the coat trade—and we're getting it. We show styles and varieties enough to please any fancy. Everything that's new is here at prices that are one-third below regular values.

Save On Your Fall Suit By Buying Here

The fall suits for women are strikingly handsome this year, no previous season ever offering such delightful variety of smart styles. Our splendid new stock is so large and so varied that numbers of becoming modes can be found for every style of figure. They, too, are priced one-third below regular prices.

Great Line of Sweater Coats

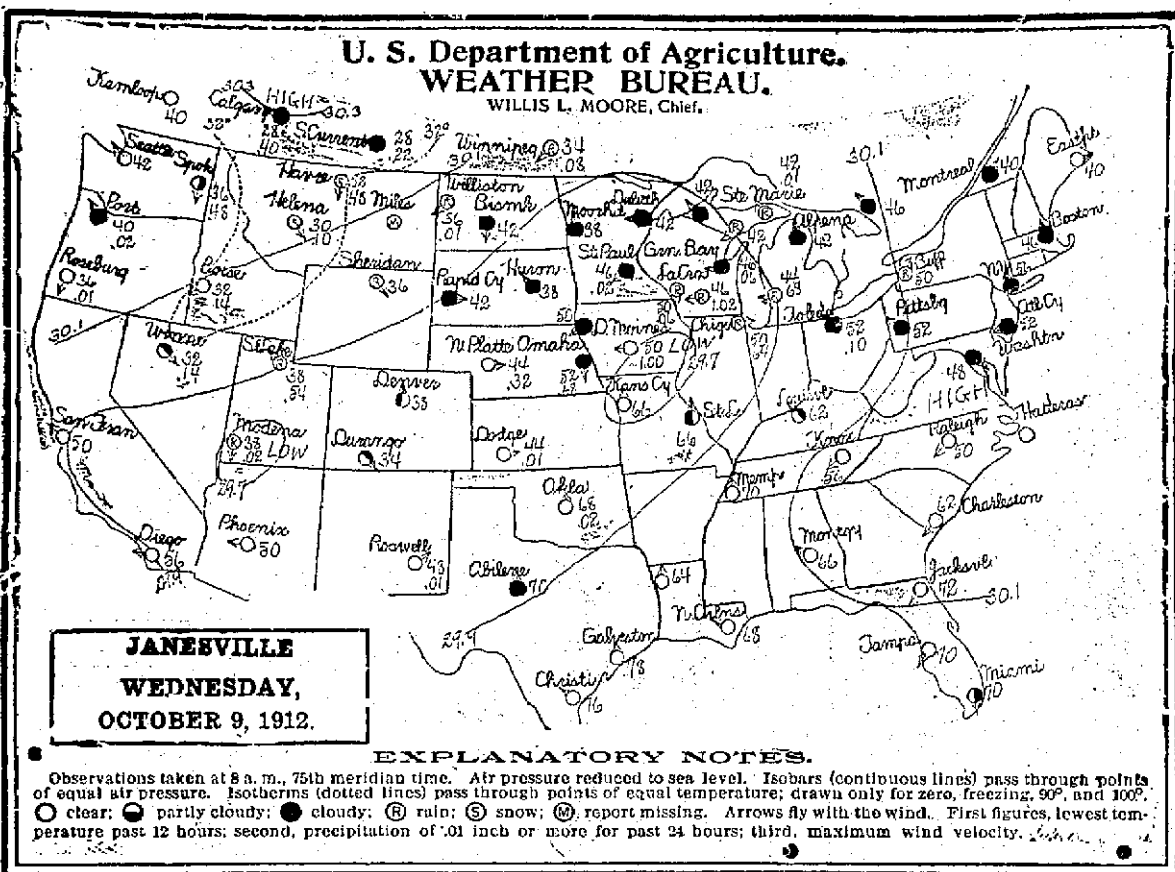

Probably the largest stock of fine sweater coats in Janesville, over 500 coats in all. Bought at a bargain price and sold to you at a bargain price, one-third below their actual value.

Underwear for Everybody at Money Saving Prices

Your money will buy more actual value in underwear of this fine quality at this store than any other place in this part of the state. You save fully one-third here and besides have the advantage of selecting from a number of fine lines from different manufacturers.

On the Bridge ARCHIE REID & COMPANY On the Bridge

A new center of low atmosphere pressure developed in the trough that yesterday occupied the western plains. This disturbance extended over the Central and Western states this morning, and was attended by rain and thunderstorms in the Lake Regions, upper Mississippi valley, and the plains from Nebraska to northern Texas, and by showers and snow flurries in the Rockies.

High barometer prevails along the Atlantic coast, and there is an area of fair weather in the Southeastern states. The barometer is also high in the Canadian northwest, but it continues cloudy there.

Got Back at the Judge.

A celebrated engineer, being examined at a trial where both the judge and counsel tried in vain to browbeat him, made use in his evidence of the expression, "the creative power of a mechanic," on which the judge rather tartly asked him what he meant by "the creative power of a mechanic." "Why, my lord," said the engineer, "I mean that power which enables a man to convert a goat's tail into a judge's wig."

Saving the Babies.

In England and some other countries great progress has been made in recent years in the prevention of infant mortality. In this country an association has been formed, known as the American Association for the Study and Prevention of Infant Mortality. The object of this society is to coordinate all the sanitary agencies for the express purpose of reducing the number of preventable deaths of babies.

WHICH SHALL IT BE?

Do you intend to continue laboring, burning valuable fuel and destroying high priced food with that old worn-out cook stove?

You KNOW that old stove eats up a lot of fuel each year.

You KNOW you have trouble in getting it to bake just right, in fact, spoil a batch of bread every once in a while—you know it costs considerable for yearly repairs.

Stop and think and figure.

Wouldn't it pay you to buy a good range—a range with a reputation—

The Great Majestic Malleable and Charcoal Iron Range?

You make no mistake in buying the GREAT MAJESTIC—it's the range with THE REPUTATION—ask your neighbors. Then, too, it's made just right and of the right kind of material—MALEABLE AND CHARCOAL IRON—riveted together practically air tight—lined with pure asbestos board—parts being malleable can't break—has a movable reservoir and an oven that don't warp—that's why the MAJESTIC uses so little fuel, bakes just right every day in the year (browns bread just right all over without turning), heats 15 gallons of water while breakfast is cooking—properly handled lasts a lifetime, and costs practically nothing for repairs.

Don't buy the range you expect to last a lifetime "unsight unseen," you'll be sure to be disappointed. Come to our store during demonstration week, see the GREAT MAJESTIC—have its many exclusive features explained—find out why the MAJESTIC is 300% stronger than other ranges where most ranges are weakest.

Don't Overlook the Date. This is a Special Invitation to You and Your Friends and Neighbors.

Would You Like to Spend $50,000 a Year for Dress?

IF YOU were asked, "Would you like to have $50,000 a year to spend for dress, what would your answer be?" A few number would as unhesitatingly say "Yes." A few number would as unhesitatingly say "No." Some would qualify their assent or dissent.

I think one is safe in guessing that the majority would say "Yes." For most women like pretty clothes. Most women do not have as much money as they want to spend on pretty clothes. And with $50,000 to spend each year, most women would think they could just revel in pretty clothes. And so comes the unanimous "Yes."

But just think what spending $50,000 a year on clothes would mean? One woman who has confessed to the public just what she buys. The lists of other women who spend this much—and there are many in this country who do—would no doubt read about the same.

This woman buys in the course of a year, 200 pairs of silk stockings, 50 pairs of gloves, 60 pairs of shoes, 100 petticoats, 15 fans, about 100 dresses, 2,000 yards of ribbon, 40 hats, and in about the same proportion, the dozen and one of other things that go to make up a woman's wardrobe.

Some tasks there are that wealth can hire performed for one. But no amount of money will do away with the wearing of new shoes, the putting on of new gloves, the fitting of new gowns, and the choosing of new hats. Think of the task of breaking in those 60 pairs of shoes, of working on those 50 pairs of gloves, of being fitted for those 100 or so gowns, and trying on those 40 hats!

Think of shopping for 2,000 yards of ribbon, and 100 petticoats, and 15 fans, and the underclothes, and the band bags, and vells, and the other little things of this $50,000 outfit.

Think of doing it year in and out!

Can you conceive of a more wearying existence, or of one that has less satisfaction in it?

Even if one does whirl from store to store in a limousine, there is matching colors and finding the kind of lace wanted, and waiting to be attended to, and not finding things right when they come home. It is all the kind of tedious work that exasperates.

And when it is all done, nothing has been accomplished but some clothes. And it has all to be done over again the next year, and the next.

Do you think there is any real satisfaction in spending your life that way?

If you are going to spend $50,000 a year on dress, you are going to spend the larger part of that year in getting that dress. Is it a profitable or happy way to spend the year?

We all want to look as attractive as possible. But nevertheless, shouldn't this business of getting one's clothes be given only a certain proportion of our time, and shouldn't that proportion be accorded carefully?

So those who shriek a joyous "Yes," when asked if they would like to spend $50,000 a year on clothes, can see that after all, it is not so joyous an experience as it seems at the first glance. And if they will look a little more deeply, they will pause to see if it is worth while, any way, to spend $50,000 a year on clothes.

The one way in which $50,000 a year to spend on clothes would be helpful would be where it would eliminate the twisting and turning and making over and running hither and yonder to induce a small allowance to stretch as far as necessary. If by having the $50,000 we could simply go and buy what we need without having to consider cost or finding the cheapest possible, then it would be a help. For if used this way, it would really aid us to get the most out of life. If instead of spending all our time in spending this sum, we used it to save time, then indeed it would be worth having.

But to spend $50,000 a year on clothes, simply to fill closets and bureau drawers and shoe boxes and the like, seems a poor occupation for an intelligent human being.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS
BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: About a year ago I began corresponding with a young lady. We exchanged photographs though we never met personally. I deduce from her letters that she esteems me very highly and loves me very much. As I do not care to enter the sea of matrimony at present I am at a loss what to do. How may I explain that her love is not reciprocated?

Are you quite sure, or is it just your caution or vanity that makes you think she loves you? Make your letters very cool and brief and far between, gradually ceasing to write at all. That's the easiest way, and will save her pride more than anything else.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1)—I am 13 years old. My bust measure is 34. My hips 32. My legs are small. What can I do to reduce my bust and hips and gain some on my legs? (2)—How old ought a girl be before she goes with boys? (3)—Should a girl wear her dress in length according to her age or size? (4)—I love a young man. We are to be married in December, 1912. Would it be wrong for him to kiss me good-night?

(1)—Running and tiptoeing will make you have better shaped legs and hips. Don't try to reduce them. The rest of you will catch up in time. (2)—18, at least. (3)—Her size. If you are large, to your shoe tops. (4)—You are too young to marry and cannot marry legally. If he is a little boy no older than yourself, there is no harm in kissing.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have a sister one year my senior. Every time a young man calls to see me she does her best to attract his attention. She likes to show me she can cut me

Girls! Get a 25 cent bottle of "Danderine" and try this. Also stops falling hair; destroys every particle of dandruff.

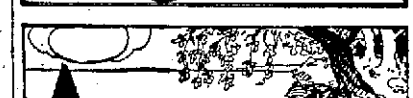

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Danderine hair cleanse." Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dirt, dandruff and excess oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. Besides beautifying the hair at good for a nice boy to know.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am going on 17 and receiving $1 a week for spending money out of which I pay 60 cents carfare. My parents tell me to buy my own clothes out of this money. Is this fair? I earn $6 a week. My parents aren't so poor they can't afford to buy my clothes.

CONSTANT READER. Tell your parents that you will pay them $2 a week board and buy your own clothes out of the rest of the money you earn. You can't buy clothes and pay carfare out of $1 a week.

A H, YET when all is thought and said, The heart still overrules the head; Still what we hope we must believe, And what is given us, receive.

BREAKFAST DISHES.

There are few housekeepers who do not murmur over the sameness of the breakfast menu and long for something new to serve the family.

Here are a few dishes that may be varied and modified to suit the needs of the family:

Smoked Salmon Relish.—A few very thin slices of smoked salmon, dipped in boiling water and placed on rounds of buttered bread toast, a slice to each round, and a poached egg on the top.

A cup of cold cooked macaroni added to a cup of codfish in white sauce, making a border around the platter of scrambled eggs, is another nice breakfast dish. Any left-overs of cooked cereal, sliced and fried in butter or meat drippings are relished for a cool morning breakfast.

Codfish Scallop With Rice and Eggs.—Mix two tablespoonsful of cream or melted butter with a cup and a half of boiled rice; arrange in layers with the same amount of creamed codfish, finishing with rice at the top. Carefully break four eggs on top, season with salt and dots of butter. Bake in the oven until the eggs are set.

Brown Bread Relish.—Put a little bacon fat in a frying pan and when hot add a few slices of Boston brown bread; brown carefully and slip a poached egg on each slice and serve hot.

Tongue Scramble.—Mix together a cup of chopped boiled tongue and six well beaten eggs. Season with grated onion, shredded green pepper or minced parsley.

Mexican Eggs.—Split three green peppers lengthwise, remove the seeds and fry in butter five minutes. Lay thin slices of broiled ham on buttered toast, then place the pepper with a fried or poached egg in each pepper.

Nellie Maxwell.

Arsenic From Many Sources.—Arsenic has been found as a normal constituent in man and animals and now Jadin and Astrug, two French biologists, show that it may be derived from edible plants and fruits. They examined 39 vegetable substances, and obtained arsenic from all, the quantities ranging from 0.03 part per million in the leek to 0.26 part per million in almonds and beans.

Read the Want Ads.

Tradition teaches that the woman who stands faithfully over a stove cooking, is worthy of canonization. Let us lay the ax to this superstition; why should we women insist that certain rites and ceremonies are essential to the success of certain dishes?

Long ago I threw down the gauntlet to the readers of modern cooking schools who declared that the interests of economy was advanced by the elaboration of simple materials and cheap articles of food into fancy dishes, with infinite labor. There is no waste, so much as was deplored in this world as wasted time! If men realized how many hours are spent by overworked wives and mothers preparing the food for the family there would be a domestic revival in many a home, and the women would suddenly find time for self-improvement or if not interested in that, for recreation.

ND so Janet says she is perfectly delighted because she has another baby," said Molly, the little stenographer lady, "and it's the third in four years, and Jim can't be earning more than $35 a week. That's perfectly absurd; it must be a pose."

"Molly," said the lady-who-always-knows-somewhat, looking up from the little garment which she was embroidering for the said Janet's youngest, "is it a pose when you say that it is the ambition of your life to be able to take in every stray cat and dog that you find?"

"Of course it isn't," said Molly indignantly.

"Well," said the lady-who-always-knows-somewhat with an intonation that made further explanation unnecessary.

"I guess you're right as usual, big sister," said Molly, answering the intonation rather than the words, as we learn to do with those we understand and love.

And the lady-who-always-knows-somewhat smiled like the sun coming out from behind a cloud for she doesn't like to have to differ with Molly.

Seems to me that the little stenographer lady's mistake is a very common one.

To call any attitude with which you do not sympathize a pose or affectation is one of the most common kinds of injustice of which men and women are guilty.

Long ago when someone insisted that I was posing when I said I should rather enjoy being present at a terrible earthquake or fire or volcano eruption if the thing had to happen anyway, and if none of my friends or myself was hurt, I felt the injustice of this attitude and determined to avoid it.

And yet just the other day I caught myself saying after an unsuccessful attempt to read Pepy's Famous Diary, "People are always saying they like that book. I don't believe it. I think anyone who says he really enjoys reading that stuff is just pretending."

We don't all like the same things. That is a most fortunate provision of nature as anyone who stops to think will see. A world full of people with exactly the same tastes would result in many complications besides, being rather stupid. Why then should we be incredulous even when we find someone displaying a taste that is totally incomprehensible to us?

If you are genuine in your likes and dislikes, you ought to believe that others are too. If you are a poseur that may account for your suspecting others of the same lack of genuineness, but it certainly does not prove the suspicion.

To make allowance for tastes and prejudices and points of view which you do not share is the sign of a broad mind and a spiritual culture. To call every taste you don't sympathize with, a pose, is a sign of the opposite.

A WOMAN'S OBSERVATIONS
Edna K. Woolley

hold pets would be slain. Human life wouldn't be safe.

If the United States wants to train men for an army, it would do better to make the attempt some other way. The PEOPLE of the United States will never favor this method. Fathers and mothers aren't exactly enthusiastic about having their sons trained to kill and be killed.

We are not living in frontier days, when it is necessary for every man and boy to be a good shot. If a war should come, which every one of us is praying against, men who can shoot straight will develop fast enough, just as they have done in the past.

Does this government think it will arouse patriotism by establishing rifle classes in our public schools? If so, it has another thing coming. Gun play and patriotism are not synonymous. A government which permits monopolies to impoverish its common people and which does practically nothing to protect that solid middle class which has been the bulwark of the nation, and which is being rapidly crushed into nothing by a living cost which steadily advances beyond the average wage, won't be able to instill much patriotism into a weary and disgusted people by teaching their children to be good shots.

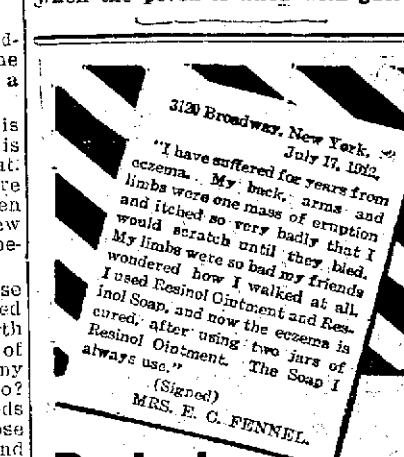

We want better food, better all-round living conditions, a better chance to make healthy, happy, useful men of our boys. That's what we want—not guns for them to play with.

Sight of the Color Blind.

A color blind person sees light as either white or gray and dark colors appear either as dark gray or black. This mutual sensitiveness is due to the fact that the light nerves and color nerves are closely interwoven, and there is a different set of nerves for both light and color, just as there are different sets of nerves for temperature and for touch.

For the Small Porch.

A useful form of the classic lounge, or porch, reclining chair of wicker, is in two sections, divided almost in the middle so two chairs may be made when no one wishes to lounge, or when the porch is filled with guests.

Resinol cured her eczema

And if you, too, are suffering from this distressing complaint, with its constant itching and unsightly eruption, why not let Resinol do as much for you? It succeeds in almost every case where it is given a thorough trial.

IF YOU DON'T CARE FOR COST, BUY THIS

Mr. Husband, if you happen to be a millionaire, just get your wife an ostrich plume like this. If it falls below her knees so much the better for its modishness; and when the breeze blows too strenuously, it may be twisted around her neck to make a becoming feather boa. For this is the last whim of Paris in the way of hat feathers—the Dernier Cri in millinery. If one has to economize a trifle a long plume may hang from the back of the hat; if expense is absolutely no object there is no reason why it should not encircle the hat before starting on its downward journey. The plume pictured here is a soft, rich green shade and is attached to one of the stiff-brimmed derby shapes of black velvet.

DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

WALKING TOURS AS REMEDY FOR MALNUTRITION.

Dr. Roeder, a German physician, advises walking tours as a remedy in certain forms of malnutrition in children—neurasthenia, anemia and chlorosis, particularly. Children who walked from 9 to 14 miles daily for 6 days showed a greater gain than from a stay of several weeks at a health resort. The principal meal was eaten at the close of the day. There are certain advantages from residence at a health resort, but walking should be a part of the regime, for both adults and children. In beginning, the distance covered should be no more than the equivalent of the amount walked at home, and should be increased a mile or two each day, until the limit is reached, which should never exceed the point of comfortable weariness. Walkers should be divided into parties, according to capacity and congeniality, under the guidance of a capable person who will see that risk of exhaustion is avoided. The benefit is greatly increased if the scenery by the way is attractive, with points of interest at the destinations. I have frequently emphasized the importance of walking as a means of restoring and maintaining health for both old and young, but like all remedies, it must be used judiciously, though there is less danger of misapplying walking than any other means of health culture.

Valeska Suratt's Answers to Correspondents

I wear no "rats," puffs or switches. I don't brush. My hair never falls out. Rarely do I find loose, dead hair on my comb, even after vigorous combing. Use this formula and you will solve your hair problem—hair falling, dandruff and poor, sick hair. The hair will grow wonderfully.

With a half-pint of water mix half a pint of alcohol. To this add one ounce of beta-gulol. Shake thoroughly, and it will then be ready to use. If you prefer, you can use imported bay rum instead of the water and alcohol.

The beta-gulol you can get at almost any drug store for not more than fifty cents. This formula makes one pint of the best hair grower, and it costs you much less than a dollar.

This formula should be applied very freely after brushing the scalp generously with a hair brush. Rub the tonic thoroughly into the scalp with the finger tips.

EDITH M.—For red hands and arms use the following formula. I use it on my arms constantly as a complexion beautifier. It will make the arms and hands beautiful—as white as marble. It will give the face a beautiful pinkish white tint, and remove every freckle and red spot.

In a half pint of hot water add two tablespoonfuls of glycerine. Keep stirring, while adding one ounce of champagne, until it is all dissolved. Then let it cool. If the cream is too thick to pour easily from a bottle, thin it down a little with a little water. The cream will be white and satiny. Any good druggist will sell you an ounce of zintone for not more than fifty cents.

DOROTHY P.—The blackhead remover I am glad you find so effective. Here is the simple formula you requested:

I dissolved twelve ounces of granulated sugar thoroughly, then add more ounce of sugar, and mixed the whole together thoroughly. Then I added enough water to make a pint. Sugar is a liquid which you can get at the drug store by the ounce for a few cents. The cream will be white and satiny. Any good druggist will sell you an ounce of zintone for not more than fifty cents.

WONDERING.—For pimples on the shoulders use the formula given here to Dorothy P. Electricity is useless for bust development, as are also vacuum cups. You can't develop bust and have a bust like a young girl.

In a half-pint of hot water, dissolve two ounces of ruetone and half a cup of sugar, all well mixed together. Of this take a quart of water, three or four times a day in a wine-glass of water, after your meals. Avoid stimulants or appliances of any kind, the development by massaging the bust with the epilo-cream mentioned below. The ruetone will cost you one dollar, at any drug store.

MISS EMILY.—You can get rid of those crow's feet and wrinkles about the mouth and make yourself look years younger.

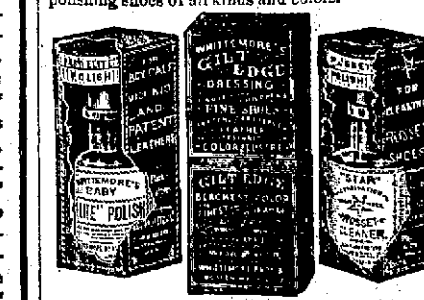

Four ounce-pint of hot water, not boiling, in a large bowl. Place this in a room of water on a slow fire. Then add two ounces of opal and continue stirring until all is dissolved. At first it will look like jelly, then it will start to cream. When it does this, remove from the fire, add slowly two tablespoonfuls of glycerine, and stir constantly until cold. Keep in a glass jar, and it will keep for months. It can be used for the face, or as an eye drop, and should not cost you more than fifty cents.

Rub in well with a slapping motion of the hand until the cream disappears. The cream will not grow hard. Use this in the morning and in the evening.

NUMBER OF SOCIETY
EVENTS IN EDGERTON

Surprise Party Given for Mrs. Herman Bublitz, a Shower for Miss Anna Johnson—Other Items.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Edgerton, Oct. 8.—Mrs. Herman Bublitz was tendered a pleasant surprise last evening by the members of the German Ladies' Aid Society of which she is a member on the occasion of her birthday. A company of ladies, thirty or more in number carrying well filled baskets, gathered on Front street and marched to the Bublitz residence in the second ward about 8:30 o'clock. The evening was spent in games and music and about ten o'clock an elegant spread was served. Before departing the guests presented Mrs. Bublitz with numerous substantial gifts in remembrance of the event.

Miscellaneous Shower.
Miss Anna Johnson was tendered a miscellaneous shower last evening at the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Johnson in the second ward. Thirty-five or more friends participated in the event and a pleasant evening was spent. Delicious refreshments were served. Miss Johnson is soon to become the bride of William Solter of Stoughton.

Birthday Party.
Miss Hilda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Schumacher, entertained a company of girl friends Sunday at the family summer home at the Lake House on the occasion of her thirteenth birthday, friends to that number being present. Both dinner and supper was served on the banks of Lake Koshkonong and later in the evening guests were treated to marsh-mallows roast. The occasion was voted a complete success and thanks were extended to Miss Hilda for the royal entertainment.

Edgerton News Notes
Miss Nora Condon was in Janesville over Sunday the guest of her sister at that place.
Mr. and Mrs. John Schumacher, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schumacher and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Schiefelbein were the guests of relatives in Jefferson over Sunday.
The beet harvest in this section is now on and while the crop is exceptionally good there is a great decrease in acreage in comparison with former years. Harry Bucknall, representing the Rock County Sugar Beet company, estimates the amount grown at less than one-fourth.

Chief of Police C. W. Dunn last night received a message from the coroner at Glasgow, Mont., announcing the killing at that place of Gilbert Olson. The telegram states that a brother of the deceased should reside in or near Edgerton, who possibly goes by the name of Bratebo. From inquiries no such party can be located here.

SILO FILLER EXPLODED
ON DAVID ZUILL FARM
Splinters of Wood and Pieces of Iron Blown in Every Direction.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Uter's Corners, Oct. 7.—A silo filler was blown to pieces while filling the silo on the David Zuill farm one day last week. Splinters of wood and pieces of iron were hurled in every direction but no one was hurt. The filler was a new one and the cause of the explosion is a mystery, but it is supposed that a stoppage of the carrier must have caused the trouble.

S. L. Taft sold his 120 acre farm to G. Dorr of Lima last week for $13,500, or $115 per acre. Mr. Taft and family will spend the winter in Florida.

Roy Farnsworth had the misfortune to lose his valuable black carriage and family driving mare Friday. Mrs. Farnsworth had hitched her up to drive to Whitewater and in turning around she in some way broke her left hind leg and had to be shot.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schultz and little ones spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Shields.
An effort is being made to organize a prohibition club at this place but very little interest in the movement has developed as yet. A meeting will be held soon and John Maly will address the meeting and make an effort to get the people interested.

A little son was welcomed into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oehrke, September 29th.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Koshierick of Milwaukee were over Sunday guests at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Koshierick, Sept. 29th.

Mrs. E. B. Warner returned to her home in Whitewater last week after a two weeks' visit at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Roy Farnsworth.

Mrs. Friedel returned to her home in Whitewater, Wednesday, after a week's visit with her daughter, Mrs. D. L. Hall.

Miss Bertha Loomer of Whitewater was the guest of Miss Ruth Hadley from Friday night until Sunday evening, and her sister was the guest of Miss Lilah Haag at the same time.

These four young ladies are classmates at the Whitewater high school. Scott Maly was elected assistant superintendent of the Sunday school at this place Sunday, and Miss Lilah Haag was elected secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. George Coppins of Whitewater were callers here Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Burgett and children and Mrs. Burgett's mother, Mrs. Amanda Wheeler of Whitewater, called on friends here Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. George H. Roe are the happy parents of a little daughter, which came Sunday night to brighten their home.

FAIRFIELD

Fairfield, Oct. 8.—Mrs. Jas. Clowes and daughter, Amy, of Elkhorn, visited here the last of the week. Mrs. Harrison Wilkins, who is in the Henderson hospital at Janesville, is getting along nicely, and her many friends are glad to hear that the operation on her eye was successful.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gardner and son were in Janesville, Saturday. Miss Adeline Sax was a week-end visitor of her parents in Racine.

Mrs. Fred Hallburger and sister are visiting in Chicago. Claude Stava made a trip to Illinois one day last week.

Miss Nettie Coon of Milton visited her sister, Mrs. Clara Serl, last week. Miss Alice Cahill of Elkhorn spent last week with Mrs. Mary Baldwin.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Robinson left Friday night for Edgerton, Minn. They expect to be gone about three weeks.

Mrs. Elizabeth Mulks returned home last week from Chicago where she has been helping care for her new grandson, who came to brighten the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mulks.

Arthur Stewart is in Elkhorn on business today.

Mrs. O. Rye and Miss Olga Severson of Whitewater visited Friday and Saturday at Mr. Hackwell's.

Mrs. Clara Chamberlain, Harry and Maude Chamberlain, spent Wednesday and Thursday in Milwaukee.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Roth are the proud parents of a ten pound baby girl, born last Monday.

Mrs. J. C. Serl is spending some time in Janesville.

Rev. Elmer Serl of Carthage, Mo., was a pleasant caller at A. D. Clark's last Wednesday.

Theodore Snyder, who will work the Jerome Waterman farm the coming year, and Miss Clara Knight of Elkhorn were united in marriage at Sharon last Wednesday.

SIDEWALK

WHY WHO'S WHO.
(By Howard L. Rann.)

WHAT has become of the distinguished fellow citizen, Postmaster General Frank H. Hitchcock? Why this submerged silence on the part of F. H.? Time was, and not so long ago, that he was leading the embattled hosts at the head of the colored delegates, with the republic's campaign text-book in one hand and a bright cluster of second-class postage stamps in the other. But now he is mute in fact, so go dinged mute that he has to repeat what he hasn't said several times before you can understand what he intended to say.

The last heard from Mr. Hitchcock was in the form of a stern utterance by which, with the aid of congress, he closed the postoffices on Sunday, thereby depriving several millions of free-born and super-taxed Americans to the pink sheet. For this unfeeling act he is buried in effigy every Sunday morning by a caustic and consequenceless constituency.

Mr. Hitchcock's last public benefaction was the nomination of Mr. Taft four years ago, with the assistance of a single-seated steam roller, which was remodelled last spring and used with gratifying success at Chicago. Despite the fact that this was an old steam roller and had seen severe service it completely overthrew all competitors including the famous T. R. model, which blew out a cylinder head immediately after the first roll call.

Mr. Hitchcock is a very efficient man, notwithstanding, and when he is succeeded by some influential contributor to the campaign fund, who doesn't know the letter rate of postage from the Pentateuch, he will have no trouble in securing a steady position at $25 or $30 a week. He is the first postmaster-general we ever had who made a $1,000,000 deficit sound like a small, but noisy nuisance.

If Mr. Hitchcock supporting anybody for president this year, he is not carrying any enthusiasm as excess baggage. It must be that he is trying to earn his salary, which probably accounts for the suspicion with which he is viewed by the remainder of the cabinet.

CLINTON

Clinton, Oct. 9.—Our people will be surprised to learn that Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Barber are to leave their beautiful home on Highland Park avenue, and move out on the farm their son, Thomas is to work, so they can keep house for him.

Mrs. E. S. Duxstad and children, have gone to Dinole for the week.

E. F. Vanderlyn went to Chicago Monday morning, and Mrs. Vanderlyn went to Janesville.

Paul McKinney of Beloit, college, came home yesterday returning again today.

Mrs. Nettie Scott is in Chicago replenishing her millinery stock.

The diphtheria situation remains the same with but two cases in town and they both in the same family, and one case in the country.

Doctor Mary Montgomery has gone out of town on her vacation.

P. Reese has purchased a one half interest in the real estate business of E. B. Hayks.

Mayot A. E. Monroe has purchased a fine new touring car.

Mrs. J. C. Barker's numerous friends will be sorry to hear that she sustained a fractured arm Sunday as the result of a fall.

Christ Sorenson who has run a bakery here for a couple of years, has sold his business to a gentleman from Beloit, who will conduct it in the same high plane established by Mr. Sorenson who is the best baker Clinton ever had. Just what Mr. and Mrs. Sorenson and family will do they have not as yet determined but they expect to move to a larger place.

Mrs. Wells, who spoke to a large crowd at the Congregational church Sunday evening, also addressed a large gathering of ladies at Janesville in the afternoon.

Joy In Being Close to the Earth.
The average autochthonous Irishman is close to patriotism because he is close to the earth; he is close to domesticity because he is close to the earth; he is close to doctrinal theology and elaborate ritual because he is close to the earth. In short, he is close to the heavens because he is close to the earth.—G. K. Chesterton.

Barrel Cleaning Made Easy.
A machine, which thoroughly cleanses 300 barrels an hour by washing them inside and out and rinsing them several times has been invented.

"REALLY DOES" PUT STOMACHS IN ORDER AT ONCE—PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN.

Time it! In just five minutes there will be no Indigestion, Sourness, Heartburn, Gas or Dyspepsia.

Do some foods you eat hit back—taste good, but work badly; ferment into stubborn lumps and cause a sick, sour, gassy stomach? Now, Mr. or Mrs. Diapepsin jot this down: Pape's Diapepsin digests everything, leaving nothing to sour and upset you. No difference how badly your stomach is disordered you get happy relief in five minutes, but what pleases you most is that it strengthens and regulates your stomach so that you can eat your favorite foods without fear.

Most remedies give you relief sometimes—they are slow but not sure. Diapepsin is quick, positive and puts your stomach in a healthy condition so the misery won't come back.

You feel different as soon as Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach—distress just vanishes—your stomach gets sweet, no gases, no belching, no eructations of undigested food, your head clears and you feel fine.

Put an end to stomach trouble by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from many drug stores. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach trouble.

Three Good Pals

Breakfast time should be the "curtain raiser" of a happy day.

But the day can't be a happy one with ill health.

Coffee is often a disturbing factor.

It contains a drug—caffeine—that gets on the nerves of many a naturally happy-tempered man or woman, resulting in "crossness" and irritability.

But now comes

which is absolutely free from any drug.

This new food-drink makes "good company" at breakfast or any other meal. Manufactured from choice Northern wheat and the juice of pure Southern sugar-cane, it is prepared at table instantly by stirring a level teaspoonful, direct from the tin, in a cup of hot water and adding cream and sugar to taste. Everyone can drink it with happy results.

Grocers Sell Instant Postum

100-cup tins---50 cts. 50-cup tins---30 cts.

A sample tin (to make 5 cups) will be mailed you for 2c stamp to cover postage.

Personally Conducted
Homeseekers' Excursion
To Montana

Tuesday, October 15, 1912

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway, through one of its Traveling Immigration Agents, will conduct a party of homeseekers for a one to three weeks' trip to Montana, that they may secure first hand information about the wonderful opportunities offered the Farmer and Business Man.

The party will leave Chicago Tuesday, October 15, on "The Columbian" at 10:10 a. m., Milwaukee 12:20 p. m., St. Paul 10:25 p. m., Minneapolis 11:10 p. m., via the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul and Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound Railways. Stops will be made in the Yellowstone and Musselshell Valleys, and the famous Judith Basin, Smith River Valley and Three Forks Country. Arrangements have been made by the commercial organizations of these districts to show their lands and furnish reliable information regarding crop yields, land values, homesteads, business opportunities, etc.

You Will Never Have a Better Opportunity of making an inexpensive and enjoyable trip to this wonderful state, learning of its opportunities and seeing the phenomenal yield of all products this year. You can own a farm in Montana for the same outlay you are now spending on a mere rental basis in your present location—Montana land yields double per acre that of Middle West land—proved by U. S. Government reports.

3,000,000 acres of Free Homesteads

10,000,000 acres of splendid land at $15 to $45 per acre

30,000 acres of extremely fertile land on crop payment plan

Arrange to join this party and ask your neighbor to go with you. Special low fare round trip homeseekers' tickets, limited to 25 days for return and permitting stopovers will be on sale on this date. There is through coach, tourist and sleeping car accommodations on "The Columbian."

Write us as soon as possible how many there will be in your party and what accommodations are desired.

Forty Years Ago

Janesville Daily Gazette, October 9, 1872.—The Masonic hall in Smith's new building is complete and will be ready for occupancy as soon as the furniture is placed and the inside blinds hung. It is a beautiful room and compares favorably with any Masonic lodge room in the northwest. Messrs. Britton and Kimball have just completed thirty-five pieces of black walnut furniture for this hall which is in perfect keeping with the ornamental finish of its interior.

Twenty sheep belonging to Samuel Culver who resides just outside the city were killed on Monday evening by dogs. From all parts of the county we hear complaints of similar depredations and we feel assured that the difficulty will continue until the canine pests are removed by the enactment of stringent laws. Mr. Culver's twenty sheep were more valued than all the dogs in the country.

Wm. Spaulding of Harmony, lost a valuable dog last week by lightning. James Webb started for New York this morning to purchase new goods for the holidays.

How to load a gun cartridge without exploding the percussion, and burning a cup full of powder is what puzzles an amateur hunter in the Jackman and Smith block.

ANSWER TO NO. 14.—WHEN A MAN CUTS OFF HIS HEAD WITH ONE.

UNCLE WALT

The Poet Philosopher

Copyright, 1899, by George Matthew Adams

BY WALT MASON

Judge Franklin makes no foolish breaks, no blunders bold or shocking; he goes his way day after day, and no one hears him talking. He answers "no" in accents low when someone asks a question, or murmurs "yes," as in distress from verbal indigestion. He won't debate, he won't orate, or break his solemn quiet; he shakes his head—all has been said—he wants no wordy riot. So in the town he has renown as being crammed with knowledge; his bunch of brains more lore contains than Yale or Harvard college. We're proud of him, this jurist grim, this man who never chatters; the referee and umpire he is in all village matters. The dames are proud when he has bowed in stately recognition; if Rinktum stands and shakes your hands, he betters your condition. Yet this old boy, our pride and joy, whom some consider greater than Cicero or C. Pinchof, is but a selling plater. If he should drain his massive brain and take out all that's in it, he wouldn't need, to do the deed, much more than half a minute. Oh, just look wise and you will rise and have good things before you; but talk too much and you're in Dufeh, and no one will adore you.

Canny Mr. Man.

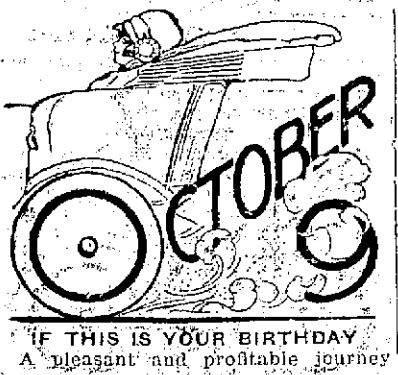

A man is not necessarily insane because he wears an outrageous tie. It might be a present from a rich aunt—in which case he is very much the reverse of insane.

NOT LIKE OTHER GIRLS

The mermaid is a funny girl. Now, this we know is true: She's never heard to ask a man To please tie up her shoe.

Had another girl.

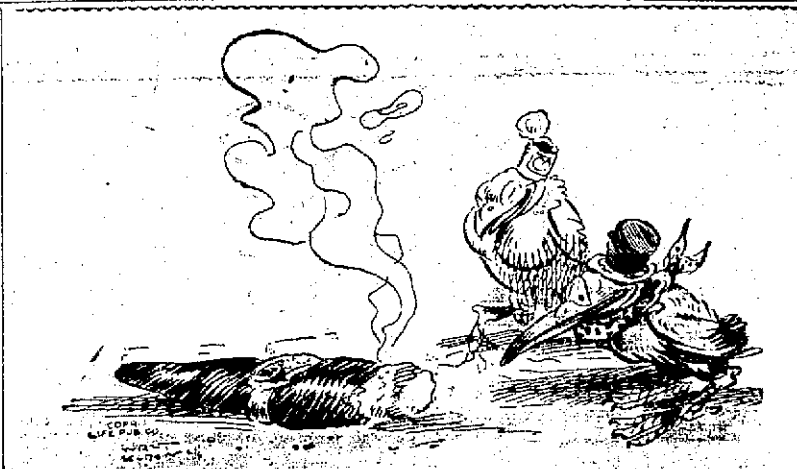

is indicated for you and general good fortune will be yours for the coming year.

Those born today will have enthusiasm and patience, two qualities that make for success. If their judgment is trained to guard them their possibilities are unlimited.

Conditioned.

"How's your son getting on in college?" "Not at all. Every time there are two men on bases and it's his turn to bat, they bench him and give a substitute batter a chance."—Detroit Free Press.

Wendy Warbler: "I say, Bo, this must be one of those open fire-places we heard about."

Gentle Criticism.

On one occasion Hans Richter was present at a concert given by a brother composer, at which the latter performed a long and not particularly interesting work of his own. When the composition came to an end Richter expressed his criticism in a very few words. "Well," he said, "I too had written compositions to make a pile so high, raising his hand three feet from the ground; "but I had burned them!"

Saved By His Wife.

She's a wise woman who knows just what to do when her husband's life is in danger, but Mrs. R. J. Flint, Braintree, Vt., is of that kind. "She insisted on my using Dr. King's New Discovery," writes Mr. R. "for a dreadful cough, when I was so weak my friends all thought I had only a short time to live, and it completely cured me." A quick cure for coughs and colds. It's the most safe and reliable medicine for many throat and lung troubles—grip, bronchitis, croup, whooping cough, quinsy, tonsillitis, hemorrhoids. A trial will convince you. 50 cts. and $1.00. Guaranteed by People's Drug Co.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Persons Answering Fraudulent Advertisements Asked to Notify Gazette.

The Gazette is desirous of keeping out of its columns fraudulent advertising and asks the assistance of its patrons to that end.

There are any number of concerns in the country who make a living through a nicely worded advertisement, offering golden opportunities, and these unscrupulous people find fertile ground for work among the masses.

Many orders are received in the Gazette mail for advertising which are returned as questionable and where there is a question as to the qualifications the advertisement is omitted. All newspapers have this experience.

But even with the utmost care there will be an occasional advertisement which will pass the scrutiny of the business department of the paper and find its way into the columns.

The Gazette will deem it a favor if you will report to its office any trouble which may have been experienced through the answering of such an advertisement.

The Chronicles of Addington Peace

By B. FLETCHER ROBINSON
 Author with A. Conan Doyle of 'The Hound of the Baskervilles'

My room was in the old wing at the further side of the picture gallery, and I had some difficulty in steering my way through the dark corridors. The mystery that hung over the house had shaken my nerves, and I remember that I started at every creak of a board and peered into the shadows as I passed along with heaven knows what ghostly expectations. I was glad enough to close my door upon them and see the wood fire blazing cheerfully in the open hearth.

I woke with a start that left me sitting up in bed, with my heart thumping in my ribs like a piston-rod. I am not generally a light sleeper, but that night, even while I snored, my nerves were active. Some one had tapped at my door—that was my impression.

I listened with the uncertain fear that comes to the newly waked. Then I heard it again—on the wall near my head this time. A board creaked. Some one was groping his way down the dark corridor without. Presently he stopped, and a faint line of illumination sprang out under my door. It winked, and then grew still. He had lit a candle.

Assurance came with the streak of light. What was he doing, groping in the dark, if he had a candle with him? I crept over to the door, opened it, and stared cautiously out.

About a score feet away a man was standing—a striking figure against the light he carried. His back was towards me, but I could see that his hand was shading the candle from his eyes while he stared into the shadows that clung about the further end of the corridor.

Presently he began to move forward. The picture gallery and the body of the house lay behind me. The corridor in which he stood terminated in a window, set deep into the stone of the old walls. The man walked slowly, throwing the light to right and left. His attitude was of nervous expectation—that of a man who looked for something that he feared to see.

At the window he stopped, staring about him and listening. He examined the fastenings, and then tried a door on his right. It was locked against him. As he did so I caught his profile against the light. It was Harbord, the secretary. From where I stood he was not more than forty feet away. There was no possibility of a mistake.

As he turned to come back I retreated into my room, closed the door. The fellow was in a state of great agitation, and I could hear him muttering to himself as he walked. When he had passed by I peeped out to see him and his light dwindle, reach the corner by the picture gallery, and fade into a reflection—that of a man who looked for something that he feared to see.

I took care to turn the key before I got back into bed.

I woke again at seven, and, hurrying on my clothes, set off to tell Peace all about it. I took him to the place, and together we examined the corridor. There were only two rooms beyond mine. The one on the left was an unoccupied bedroom; that on the right was a large storeroom, the door of which was locked. The housekeeper kept the key, we learnt upon inquiry. Whom had Harbord followed? The problem was beyond me. As for Inspector Peace, he did not indulge in verbal speculations.

It was in the central hall that we encountered the secretary on his way to the breakfast room. The man looked nervous and depressed; he nodded to us, and was passing on, when Peace stopped him.

"Good morning, Mr. Harbord," he said. "Can I have a word with you?" "Certainly, inspector. What is it?" "I have a favor to ask. My assistant and myself have our hands full here. If necessary could you help us by running up to London, and—"

"For the day?" he interrupted. "No. It may be an affair of three or four days."

"Then I must refuse. I am sorry, but—"

"Don't apologize, Mr. Harbord," said the little man, cheerfully. "I shall have to find some one else—that is all." We walked into the breakfast room, and a few minutes later Ransom and anyway, you cannot be spared, Mr. Phillips.

"I want you to stay in your bedroom. Write, read, do what you like, but keep your door ajar. If anyone passes down the corridor, see where he goes, only don't let him know that you are watching him if you can help it. I will take my turn at half-past one. I don't mean to starve you."

I obeyed. After all, it was, in a manner, promotion that the inspector had given me; yet it was a tedious, anxious time. No one came my way, barring a sour-looking housemaid. I tried to argue out the case, but the deeper I got the more conflicting grew my theories. I was never more glad to see a friendly face than when the little man came in upon me.

The short winter's afternoon crept on, the inspector and I taking turn and turn about in our sentry duty. Dinner time came and went. I had been off duty from nine, but at ten-thirty I poured out a 'whisky-and-soda' and went back to join him. He was sitting in the middle of the room smoking a pipe in great apparent satisfaction.

"Well, inspector?" he said at last. "The little detective's head shook out a negative."

"Perhaps you require an incentive," he sneered. "Is it a matter of a reward?"

"No, Mr. Ransom; but it is becoming one of my personal reputation."

"Then, by thunder! you are in danger of losing it. Why don't you and your friend hustle, instead of loitering around as if you were paid by the day? I tell you, man, there are thousands—hundreds of thousands—waiting, slipping through your fingers, every hour, every hour."

He sprang from his seat and started his walk again—up and down, up and down, as we had first seen him.

"Shall you be returning to London?"

"At the question the manager halted in his stride, staring sharply down into the inspector's bland countenance. "No," he said; "I shall stay here, Mr. Addington Peace, until such time as you have something definite to tell me."

"I have an inquiry to make which I would rather place in the hands of some one who has personal knowledge of Mr. Ford. Neither Mr. Harbord nor yourself desire to leave Meudon. Is there anyone else you can suggest?"

"There is Jackson—Ford's valet," said the manager, after a moment's thought. "He can go, if you think him bright enough. I'll send for him."

While the footman who answered the bell was gone upon his errand, we waited in an uneasy silence. There was the shadow of an ugly mystery upon us all. Jackson, as he entered, was the only one who seemed at his ease. He stood there—a tall figure of all the respectabilities.

"The inspector here wishes you to go to London, Jackson," said the manager. "He will explain the details. There is a fast train from Camdon at eleven."

"Certainly, sir. Do I return tonight?"

"No, Jackson," said Peace. "It will take a day or two."

The man took a couple of steps towards the door; hesitated, and then returned to his former place.

"I beg your pardon, sir," he began, addressing Ransom. "But I would rather remain at Meudon under present circumstances."

"What on earth do you mean?" thundered the manager.

"Well, sir, I was the last to see Mr. Ford. There is, at it were, a suspicion upon me. I should like to be present while the search continues, both for his sake—and my own."

"Very kind of you, I'm sure," growled Ransom. "But you either do what I tell you, Jackson, or you pack your boxes and clear out. So be quick and make up your mind."

"I think you are treating me most unfairly, sir. But I cannot be persuaded out of what I know to be my duty."

"You impertinent rascal!" began the furious manager. But Peace was already on his feet with a hand outstretched.

"Perhaps, after all, I can make other arrangements, Mr. Ransom," he said. "It is natural that Jackson should consider his own reputation in this affair. That is all, Jackson; you may go now."

It was half an hour afterwards, when the end of breakfast had dispersed the party, that I spoke to Peace about it, offering to go to London myself and do my best to carry out his instructions.

"I had bad luck in my call for volunteers," he said.

"I should have thought they would have been glad enough to get the chance of work. They can find no particular amusement in loafing about the place all day."

"Doubtless they all had excellent reasons," he said with a smile. "But store-room door, yet they still were visible before us. There was no other egress from the corridor. The tall window at the end was, as I knew, a good twenty feet from the ground. Had this man also vanished off the earth like Silas Ford?

Suddenly the inspector stopped, grasping my arm. The light he held fell upon two footprints set close together. They were at right angles to the passage. Apparently the man had passed into the solid wall!

"Peace, what does this mean?"

You, sir, sitting peacefully at home, with a good light and an easy conscience, may think I was a timid fool; yet I was afraid—honestly and openly afraid. The little detective heard the news of it in my voice, for he gave me a reassuring pat upon the back.

"Have you ever heard of a 'priest's hole'?" he whispered. "In the days when Meudon Hall was built, no country house was without its hiding-place. Protestants and priests, Royalists and Republicans, they all used the secret burrow at one time or another."

"How did he get in?"

"That is what we are here to discover; and as I have no wish to destroy Mr. Ford's old oak panels I think our simplest plan will be to wait until he comes back again."

VALUABLE ADVICE

Janesville Citizens Should Profit By the Following Statement.

Doan's Kidney Pills cured this Janesville resident.

Their merit was shown—the story told.

Now comes further evidence.

The testimony is confirmed.

The remedy was tested—the cure lasted.

Could Janesville residents demand stronger proof?

It's Janesville testimony. It can be investigated.

C. F. Lester, 1017 Wheeler street, Janesville, Wis., says: "For several months I was in poor health and my system seemed to be filled with uric poison. My back ached intensely and I had but little strength or energy. I decided to try a good kidney medicine, and as I had often heard Doan's Kidney Pills highly spoken of, I got a supply at the People's Drug Co. It did not take this remedy long to bring me entire relief. At that time I publicly told of my experience and during the years that have since passed, I have not changed my high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills. Whenever I use this remedy, it does good work."

DINNER STORIES

Some time ago a New York business man, who is blessed with an extremely pretty daughter, took his family to England for an indefinite period, during which he was to establish British branches of his mercantile enterprise in this country.

The charms of this young woman wrought much havoc in the rank and file of the men who met her abroad. She was sweet and gracious to all, but her heart, as well as her will, belonged to her native land. One day her father found her at her desk, knitting her brows over a letter.

"What's the trouble, my dear?" he asked solicitously.

"Father," she responded dolefully, "I must write another declension, but nothing will induce me to conjugate until I get back to the United States."

Two Georgia dinkies were quarreling on a railroad platform. "You better go 'way from me, nigger!" said the larger of the two; "cause, if I start in on you, about this time day after tomorrow the sexton of the colored cemetery is going to be patting you in the face with a spade!"

Ever in hot water, always in trouble, seldom out of a scrape, he was by far the worst boy in the class, and the terror of the school mistress.

"What you ought to do," said Mrs. Wiscare to the teacher, "is to treat him with more consideration. Punish him with kindness, you know. Send him up to my house, and I'll try the effect of my system upon him."

And, in due time, Sammy put in an appearance at the house of Mrs. Wiscare—at least, a bright-looking boy appeared upon the scene.

Mrs. Wiscare showed him round the garden, interested him with pretty pictures, played him lively music, and then sat him down at a good feast.

"My dear," she asked eventually, "were you not extremely unhappy when stood in the corner before all your classmates for punishment?"

"But aren't you Sammy, my dear?" "No, m'm; I'm Herbert, Sammy gave me some cigarette pictures to come here and get your jawing!"

Sincerity Most Valuable Thing. Next to being honest and able, we ought to be sincere men. Sincerity is the quality which not only makes friends, but holds them.

"Please, m'm," answered the boy, "it wasn't me you saw in the corner. It was Sammy!"

Relief Without Opiates from RHEUMATISM Sciatica and Neuritis

The absence heretofore of any genuine relief for the scores of sufferers from these diseases has already been brought home to us by the extraordinary interest manifested in our previous announcement printed in this paper.

We looked for some skepticism—but the prodding pains of rheumatism, sciatica and neuritis cannot long stand before the proof we furnish of the work being done throughout the country by "Nurito," the prescription in powder form which is a positive antidote for uric acid poison.

Inducement and calls are coming in from all sides, indicating a vasty greater number of sufferers than we had supposed there were in and about this city. This makes it all the more important that our announcement regarding "Nurito" should have the most general circulation.

It is a physician's prescription, pharmacologically compounded, without a trace of opiate, narcotic or any harmful drug. Reputable physicians all over the country are prescribing it as a long needed remedy and the news of their success is bringing it to the notice of all who are afflicted with these diseases.

At last here is a prescription—not a patent medicine—which will positively, permanently and quickly relieve every case of rheumatism, sciatica and neuritis. It is pure negligence, entailing a continuance of your suffering, not to try it. Particularly those who may think their cases are of long standing and cannot be cured are invited to try "Nurito," with our assurance that the ingredients are absolutely harmless.

We ask you as friends to believe this statement. Try a $1 or $2 box and have the glorious sensation of feeling the pains and aches leaving you. Compounded by Magistral Chemical Co., Flatiron Bldg., N. Y.

CHANGES PROPOSED IN RURAL SCHOOLS

STATE PUBLIC AFFAIRS BOARD
MAKES RECOMMENDATIONS ON SUBJECT.

CHANGED CURRICULUM

Would Eliminate Non-Essentials And Strengthen Agricultural Courses
—Want Better Inspection.

Elimination of non-essentials from the school curriculum, the strengthening of courses in agriculture, new courses in manual training and the domestic arts, higher qualifications for teachers and more rigid inspection are among the recommendations made by the State Board of Public Affairs for improving the rural schools of Wisconsin in their report which has just been made public. The Board last November invited the Training School for Public Service of New York City to conduct under its supervision and with its co-operation an investigation into the condition of rural schools in the state. Included in this was a general examination of conditions in twenty-seven counties in widely separated portions of the state and a more detailed examination of conditions in 131 schools in thirty-one different counties. The recommendations which follow represent the best judgment, not only of the training school investigators, but also of Wisconsin school men and the Board of Public Affairs.

That county boards of education be elected at the general school election.

To consist of three members to serve six years, and without salary; to appoint the county superintendent from an approved list made up by the civil service commission; to have general control of county schools of agriculture and county training schools for teachers; to pass on the consolidation of school districts; to advise the superintendent to withhold state aid from small and inefficient schools whenever in the judgment of the board such action is warranted; to appoint an assistant to the county superintendent whenever the number of teachers in his district exceeds one hundred.

2. That state aid be given to county boards of education to assist in the proper maintenance of the office of county superintendent on condition that:

An adequate salary is paid to the county superintendent; an efficient clerk appointed; the county superintendent demonstrates efficiency to the state department of public instruction.

3. That to insure efficient teaching of agriculture and domestic economy in rural schools there be appointed:

A supervisor of agriculture and a supervisor of domestic arts who shall be members of the staff of the state superintendent; agricultural inspectors who shall be members of the faculties of county schools of agriculture; agricultural inspectors in counties where there are no county agricultural schools.

4. That contests in agriculture and domestic economy be encouraged by the state department of public instruction.

5. That the training of teachers of agriculture and domestic economy be encouraged by the offer of free scholarships.

6. That the curriculum of the county training schools include: increased instruction in agriculture; elements of medical inspection; farm accounting; methods of keeping school records and accounts.

7. That qualifications of obtaining teachers' certificates be raised.

After Jan. 1, 1915, ninth and tenth grade work should be required before taking six weeks' professional training course. After Jan. 1, 1917, graduation from a training school or training department should be required.

After Jan. 1, 1919, ninth and tenth grade work should be required as entrance qualifications to training schools.

8. That the manual should be revised, eliminating non-essentials of the academic subjects, strengthening the courses in agriculture and adding courses in manual training and domestic arts.

9. That the staff of school inspectors be strengthened.

Two inspectors to assist districts in planning for consolidated schools.

10. That closer co-operation be established between the schools and the circulating libraries.

The common school library funds should be expended for the purchase of books of reference, and for supplementary and collateral reading; books from the free libraries should circulate among the schools.

11. That the "two mile limit" law be amended so as to insure the education of all children of school age who are outside of the two mile limit.

12. That intelligent interpretation and publication of school facts be made.

School reports should be made adequate and adapted to the forms suggested by the United States Bureau of Education, annual or more frequent bulletins containing school facts should be issued by the state department of public instruction.

13. That the use of school money be supervised.

Accounting forms for school clerks and treasurers should be prescribed by the state superintendent; school accounts should be checked by a state inspector; classified budget estimates for all educational departments should be submitted by the proper authorities.

14. That increased state aid to rural schools and increased state supervision of rural schools go hand in hand to the end that inspection may be made more effective through the leverage afforded by the possibility of withdrawing state aid.

The state department may effectively promote among the rural communities the widest and most efficient use of their educational resources.

15. That rural school be classified for subvention and inspection purposes.

a—The following is a tentative plan pending a fuller analysis:

(1) of the present apportionment

of school moneys:

(2) of the total expense of putting such a plan in operation in city and rural schools.

b—Rural schools of the first class. (1) These schools shall contain eight grades and where possible, one or more high school years. They shall be conducted not less than nine months and have at least two teachers. The principal shall hold a state professional license. One assistant shall hold at least the first grade certificate. The principal shall be engaged for a whole year and shall be qualified to teach agriculture, shall supervise the work of the boys in agriculture during the summer months on plots on the home farms and shall conduct extension work among the adults in the community. One of the assistants shall be employed for a whole year and shall be qualified to teach domestic arts, shall conduct during the summer extension work among the girls and adults of the community. The principal shall receive a salary of not less than $1,000 per annum. One assistant shall receive a salary of not less than $750 per annum, and no one less than $50 per month.

(2) The state shall pay to the local school authorities controlling such a school an annual sum equal to two-thirds of the total amount paid for teachers' salaries.

c—Rural schools of the second class:

(1) Such a school shall be conducted for not less than nine months and shall employ a first grade teacher at a salary of not less than $50 a month and one assistant teacher at not less than $45 per month. It shall have library facilities, educational equipment, heating, ventilation and sanitary conveniences such as shall be prescribed by the state department.

(2) The state shall pay to the school board controlling such a school the sum of $250 per annum.

d—Rural schools of the third class:

(1) Such a school shall be in session not less than eight months per annum. The teacher shall have a second grade certificate and shall receive a salary of not less than $45 a month. It shall have library facilities, educational equipment, heating, ventilation and sanitary conveniences such as shall be prescribed by the state department.

(2) The state shall pay to the school board controlling such a school the annual sum of $100.

e—Rural schools of the fourth class:

(1) All other rural schools shall be included in the fourth class. Such schools shall be liable at any time to be closed on the recommendation of the county superintendent or the county board of education if their enrollment falls below twelve, and shall be liable to lose their proportion of the 7-10 mill tax, when reported on unfavorably as to efficiency, equipment and sanitation to the state superintendent of public instruction by the county superintendent, or by a state inspector of rural schools.

The country child should have, as a matter of right as good an education as is offered anywhere.

To Make Vesuvius Useful.

Artificial warming of the world is one of the greatest of modern problems and yet the earth is itself a vast furnace, whose flames are sometimes aggressively active and destructive. Italians are planning to use some of this heat. A boiler is to be installed at some point where the internal fires of Vesuvius are accessible and hot water is to be piped to the neighboring towns.

Dead Men's Shoes.

"Waiting for dead men's shoes" refers to an old Hebrew custom that on the transfer of an inheritance the successor is to receive a shoe belonging to the former owner.

Miss Alice Ringling, who is this season supporting Sarah Padden in "Kindling," recently demonstrated that she is a good sailor by piloting a party of excursionists through a raging storm on Devil's Lake, Wis. After the boat's engine had given up in despair and after the party had drifted helplessly about for more than three hours Miss Ringling volunteered her services at the wheel and soon landed the craft in safety.

The company had spent the early evening at the Kirkland Hotel, and, in spite of the threatening weather, braved the perils of the treacherous lake for a launch ride to return to the opposite side. A quarter of a mile from shore the engine balked and was not repaired until a heavy fog, preceding a storm, enveloped the launch in darkness. The pilot lost his bearings and three hours of vain endeavor brought the boat no nearer to land. The passengers were many of them nearly frantic from the perils of the situation. To add discomfort to the misery a drizzling rain set in and drenched the floundering joy-riders to the skin.

Miss Ringling knows every crevice on the lake shore, having spent several summers there with her mother at the family cottage. She suggested that her assistance might be of some avail. Taking the wheel, she held the boat to its course until the dark cliffs loomed black above, then turning parallel to the shore she guided the boat along familiar points to a safe harbor.

Miss Ringling was a member of the class of 1912 at the University of Wisconsin. During her college course she was prominent in dramatic work and had the leading roles in several of the Wisconsin dramatic society plays as well as a member of varsity class productions.

SOUSA AND HIS BAND.

John Philip Sousa will be here with his famous band at Myers Theater, Monday, October 14, matinee only at 2:15. Such an announcement has been made and welcomed in hundreds of cities all over the world, and has been read with pleasant anticipation by thousands, even millions of people. Some who read it now may never have heard Sousa and his band, and will be glad of this opportunity to hear it; while others who have attended a Sousa concert before will be interested in wondering what special treat will be offered here. "Sousa is, without doubt, the sanest of the bandmasters of the generation."

He has eschewed the thousand and one meaningless and wholly theatrical mannerisms which are effected by so many leaders solely for the purpose of eliciting comment and attracting attention, and leads with an easy grace, yet with masterful precision which are a genuine pleasure to watch. This opinion was given by a writer in one of the large cities during Sousa and his band.

Heart to Heart Talks.

POISONING ONE'S SELF.

Early in the morning one day this summer I walked from my home downtown. It is two miles.

Most of the people in the hundreds of houses along the street were asleep, and I noted particularly how few of the windows were wide open. How many did I count, do you suppose? Just fourteen!

To be sure, I was not able to see all the windows of the sleeping apartments, and a comparatively few of the houses had sleeping porches.

Many of these sleepers were poisoning themselves in their own poison.

How is that?

Why, you know, of course, the body creates poisons and that these poisons are carried by the blood to the lungs, whence they are expelled in the air that is breathed out. In order to do their beneficent work the lungs must inhale pure air.

When the air is breathed out by the lungs it is loaded with impurities—with poison. If the lungs are not supplied with pure air they breathe over again the poisoned air, and thus the body is filled with poison.

You arise in the morning and your face is swollen. You have been told that it is because you have slept too long, which is not true. Your face is swollen by the poison that is in you. You have been breathing impure air.

Literally you have been poisoned by your own poison—the poison manufactured in your body.

Of course when you get out into the fresh air you gradually rid yourself of the poison. But think of the danger you run! What diseases may get a foothold in your system, locating in some weak spot?

And yet there are thousands of persons who are afraid of the "night air." If possible, sleep out of doors.

If not, be sure you get your windows—in winter as in summer—up from the bottom and down from the top. One is as important as the other. Fresh air goes out at the top.

Even then it is remarkable how much foul air will lurk in the corners of a room.

Nothing in all the universe is so free and prevalent as good air, and there is nothing, apparently, of which so many people are afraid.

Do not poison yourself.

Doubtful Sport.

"Come, my son," said the stern, but fond parent, as he tore a shingle from the roof of the henhouse and strode in the direction of the woodshed, "let us take a little trip."

"What kind of a trip?" nervously asked the doubtful son.

"Oh, we will go on a short whaling trip,"—Judge.

HAS LITTLE MONEY TO RUN CAMPAIGN

Elton H. Hooker.

Word comes from New York that Elton H. Hooker, treasurer of the Progressive party, is having difficulty in collecting funds with which to run the campaign. Always in the past each of the big parties has received big donations from a few individuals. This year it seems none of the parties has received many large donations, and all are having trouble in meeting the campaign's legitimate expenditures.

DO YOU KNOW?

A professor of anatomy at Yale College was asked by a boy the other day why boys were not born with 16 toes on each foot, and the wise man couldn't answer. Most men, after they get to be men, are satisfied with five toes on a foot, but a boy really ought to be allowed 10. With only five on a foot he now slips back while climbing a tree to steal apples. We move that the extra toes be provided before another summer.

Derivation of "Yeggman."

The etymology of yeggman is uncertain. Some persons assert that the term owes its origin to one John Yegg, a leader of a gang of thieves.

Have Color in Your -Cheeks Be Better- Looking Try Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edward's Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study with his patients.

These Olive Tablets oil the bowels—yet have no oily taste. They are a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil.

If you want a clear pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days, you must get at the cause. Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects. They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually at 10c and 25c per box.

"Every little Olive Tablet has a movement all its own." Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results.

REHBERG'S

Men's Raincoats

THERE isn't a bit of sentiment about these raincoats for men and you don't pay for any. You just buy all the style and comfort and service that can be crammed into a good coat. Now, if you are one of these fellows who see visions and dream and look for style of the coat in the label inside the collar, don't come here. If you are a judge of fashions and know something about quality, we've got what you want. Fine raincoats $5.00 to $15.00, with very special values at $5.45.

Umbrellas; best quality; fine grades; Glorious Silk, $1.00.

It's Fashionable Nowadays For Young Men to Play the Piano

We have an especially attractive proposition to offer young men who are ambitious but have to economize closely while getting a start in life. If you have a good piano you will not want to come down town after supper and you thereby save enough to meet your small monthly or weekly payments. It's a nice way to save money.

Besides, the girl who has marked you as her husband to be, will not regret her choice when she sees this evidence of your farsightedness.

You cannot in any event lose either your piano or your investment, unless you want to, as I always recognize sickness or loss of employment as valid excuses for suspending payments.

In all cases of repossession (a rare occurrence), I issue a credit check for the full amount paid in and this credit may apply on a future purchase. Come in and let's talk it over.

The Schiller is the choice of most young men.
